Clarice Busselle Bride of Fred Anunsen on Friday

Pink, blue and white were the colors Miss Clarice Busselle selected for her marriage to Fred S. Anunsen, jr. Friday night at the First Congregational church. The altar was decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioluses and blue larkspur interspersed with white tapers. The pews were marked with clusters of flowers tied with white ribbon bows and the aisle was lighted with single white tapers in tall candlesticks.

The petite blonde bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lloyd Demarest and E. T. Busselle of Seattle, and her husband is the son of Fred S. Anunsen. Ted Busselle gave his sister in marriage. Before the bride and groom entered Miss Mary Ann Brady sang "I Love Thee" and "Beloved 'Tis Morn'" with Miss Ruth Bedford at the organ. Lighting the tapers were Mrs. Lawrence Feldschau and Mrs. Leighton Fairham, who wore mist blue nylon silk gowns and carnation bracelets. It was at 8 o'clock that the Rev. John L. Knight officiated at the ceremony.

Of white marquisette was the bridal gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, high, rounded neckline and bishop sleeves. Panels of lace insertion enhanced the gown on the bodice and on the full skirt which terminated in a train. A seed pearl coronet held her train length tulle veil in place. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Bridal Attendants
Preceding the bride down the aisle were Miss Carmen Campbell as maid of honor, and Miss Lorraine Murdock and Miss Donna Shafer who were bridesmaids for their P. Beta Phi sorority sister. Miss Campbell wore pink marquisette designed with a basque bodice, sweetheart neckline and bishop sleeves. Lace ruffling enhanced the skirt and formed a bustle in back. She carried a bouquet of white gladioluses and pink bouvardia.

Miss Murdock wore a marquisette gown of a deeper pink and Miss Shafer's dress was of mist blue. They were made identical with sweetheart necklines, buttons down the front of the bodice, bishop sleeves and full skirts. They carried bouquets of rubrum lilies. The girls all wore coronets of pink and white bouvardia in their hair.

Robert G. Brady, jr., brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Seating the guests were Donald Reiger, Landy Franz, Charles Winknerwerder and Edward Herman.

For her daughter's nuptials Mrs. Demarest selected a white jersey gown with floral print of American beauty and purple. The dress was made with cap sleeves and draped skirt. She wore long white gloves and a coronet of fuchsias and carnations in her hair.

Greet the Guests
The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the fireplace room immediately after the rites. White gladioluses were arranged on the mantle and centering the table was the tiered bride's cake encircled with a wreath of smilax and bouvardia.

Mrs. F. W. Ginn of Astoria cut her niece's cake and Miss Beryl Holt served the ices. Mrs. L. N. Bacon presided at the coffee urn. Assisting were Mrs. Douglas Baker, Misses Darlene Simmons, Sarah
