Junketing Congressmen

From a subcommittee of the house committee on military a privy crumbling away against affairs which is touring the orient came last week a warning a fir tree, six castiron posts, and that another "Pearl Harbor" might occur; that our defenses were woefully weak, inadequate to meet emergencies which mught develop. Undoubtedly these touring congressmen were in broken glass. Farther on, near thinking of Red Russia, not stricken Japan or weakened China, because Congressman Short of Missouri complains from Tokyo that "while we demobilized one of our allies mobilized."

These junketing congressmen are among those responsible from the expedition boiled salt on for accelerated demobilization. As Roscoe Drummond, Washington correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, points A mile away, doubtless as an aid out. Short and Sheridan of Pennsylvania and Martin of Iowa to the resort business, in a spot who are in the party all were front-bench shouters in congress for action to force the army to "bring the boys back home." They were sharply critical of delays, urging that demobilization pro- shorts, a sign says that this is the ceed rapidly because the war was over.

These congressmen also voted to exempt from the draft 18 Lewis and Clark by act of the and 19-year-old inductees and to set up a draft holiday of two snorths. If our defenses are weak anywhere they must carry praise for the wording on its his-big load of responsibility.

The fact is that members of our lower house of congress have shown marked ineptitude-stupidity might be a more ac- the ancestor-worship of the orcurate word-in determining national policies. When the congressmen return from their tour they will er's summaries and the Montana probably do their utmost to stampede the country with fear of highway commission's architecthe Russian menace in the orient. The situation is strained, but fear-agitation is not the right approach, for it merely builds up gon and Washington tend to be generalized out of relation to the with stipulation of August 21.

It ought not to be too much to hope that some of the members of the lower house would show more long-range intelligence in their discussions and in their votes than they have for the past decade.

Loss to Non-Striker

A few weeks ago The Statesman reported the huge losses which automobile manufacturers suffered in the first half of this year and noted how their inability to produce spread other losses through the whole country. A concrete example of how the "innocent" may suffer may be cited in the case of the Studebaker company. It will be recalled that this company had no strike of its own, the management and UAW agreeing on a contract early last fall. In spite of that Studebaker production was seriously affected by strikes among suppliers. Of the scheduled production of 134,500 units from October 1 to June 30, only 43.011 units were completed. Because of layoffs due to lack of parts a typical worker on the final assembly line earned only $1475 in the year from August 1, 1945 to August 1, 1946, while he would have earned $2400 if the business had operated

While the worker thus lost about $1000 in earnings, retail dealers lost profits for lack of merchandise to sell and the consuming public was short of the service of 90,489 cars that

Strikes are usually a case where everybody loses. Perhaps one cause of the present decline in stocks is the realization lem. of the big accumulation of losses during the reconversion troubles of the last year. The country will simply have to cut out its foolishness and get down to business.

Statesman "Alumni"

To our desk comes "The Kalama Bulletin" now owned and published by Statesman "alumni." Hale Tabor who was employed on our news staff before the war and more recently was news editor of the Telephone-Register at McMinnville, and Al Pheips, of the Statesman typographical force, are the present a record of the busy city, Cayton proprietors of the Bulletin, having purchased it from "Bud" Johns, formerly of Salem. The wives of the new owners are ex-Statesman employes, too; Mrs. Tabor (Ruth Matthews) was Bryan Goodenough assistant on the society desk and Mrs. Phelps (Arlene Odenborg) Gets High Bar Office

The Statesman has graduated hundreds of persons into positions of responsibility in the newspaper and business world We follow them with interest and no little pride as they attain success in other fields.

The Pendleton East Oregonian reports that 40 per cent of Umatilia county's new wheat crop has been sold. The total yield is estimated at around 6,500,000 bushels. The CCC has maintained a price of $1.66 a bushel. Farmers are often given to speculation and holding their crops for higher prices. They have been doing that successfully in recent years. But they know of the huge yield this year and that UNRRA will not be in the market buying for export. Consequently many farmers are disposed to sell, as the Pendleton report indicates. Older growers also remember how wheat priced at over $2 in the fall of 1920 slumped in succeeding months to a dollar a bushel.

Moralizing by caught and convicted criminals sounds like a belated attempt at gaining a measure of favor. So when we read that William Heirens, Chicago's youthful murdered, sends out this message to other youths as he goes to Joliet prisonto "confide in your parents"-it is hard to draw much enthusiasm from his counsel. Heirens had good, respectable par-ents. He disgraced them as well as himself. Society could well be mer Thacker, Mill City, a son, rid of him.

A California co-ed won the title of Miss America at Atlantic City last week. That is nothing new; but Miss Arkansas won second place, which is real news. It's gratifying to note Arkansas get somewhere near the top in the list of states; and now her feminine beauty has done it.
