

Salem Club Championship Links Meet Set

The annual Salem Golf club championship tournament, booked to start the week of September 22, starts its 36-hole qualifying tour today and Sunday over the South River road layout. All entrants, and there will likely be nearly 100 of them, must post 36 holes of qualifying score to be eligible for the tournament, according to Club Pro Jim Russell. The qualifying must be completed by Sunday, September 22. Russell reminds that the tournament will not be a handicap affair, but will have 16-man flights for all species of par-busters. Prizes will go to those winning the various flights. The championship flight will hold 16 of the club's top tee-men for the first round, with the defeated eight forming the first flight. Walt (Junior) Cline, inactive the past few months, is the defending champion, but announced this week he may not enter this year's meet. Cline downed Glenn Langen, 3 and 2, last year for the title, his second in a row. An 18-hole Sweepstakes tournament, players to benefit by full handicaps, will be the Men's club tournament for the week end. Sweepstakes scoring may be turned in as qualifying counts for the club championship meet, but players must announce intentions before teeing off.

Bearcat Grid Eleven Shaping Up; Vet Linemen, Fast Backs on Team

Cough Walt Erickson buttoned up the first week of Willamette university football practice yesterday on Sweetland field, and following the lengthy afternoon scrimmage the head man was convinced the Bearcats won't be so bad off this season. The 50-man squad, part of it to be shuffled into a Fresh eleven later, will rest today but will commence another full week of hopped up drills Monday.

A lot of personalities and developments are contributing to Salem's athletic renaissance and certainly one group that has been previously mentioned you don't have to be the parents of a budding athlete to join this organization. The only prerequisites are a fondness for sport and a willingness to devote a little time to the good of the local teams, whether they be from Willamette, Salem high or the junior high schools. And in the present make-up of the Club you'll find 'em right and left—the guys whose roots have sprung from sport—who have made names for themselves on the athletic fields—who despite a few added years have never lost their youthful enthusiasm and love of the game. And number one on their list of immediate objectives is support of the kids who figure in Salem's sport picture—to give the athletes the confidence that comes from knowing that the home-towners are behind them whether they win or lose.

To illustrate just how far these "Dads" will go to put over their program, the membership is going to painstakingly learn the yells and songs of the various schools roundabout. Now that is what we'd call going "all out." And probably not half a dozen in the bunch can carry a tune either. But you can't beat the spirit. Letting no grass grow under their feet the Dads have purchased a block of 50 tickets for the initial Salem high grid game with Lebanon there. So at home or away from home local performers can rest assured that there's always going to be at least a bit of old Salem behind 'em.

Transformation of 'The Prince'
Remember "Prince" Henry Oana who was just another outfielder with the Portland Beavers in the early 1930's? Just a journeyman gardener he was with an occasional show of home run power. Who would ever have thought in those days that he had pitching possibilities in that right arm of his—and, heavens knows, the Beavers needed hurlers in those days. At any rate Mr. Oana in the years since has blossomed into quite a moundman in his travels about the baseball world. In fact he's become a league batter's right now save for some personal idiosyncracies. Here's all the big Hawaiian accomplished for Dallas in a three day period in the Texas loop during August. On Aug. 26 he won a game with a pinch-hit homer. The following day he hurled Dallas to a 7 to 2 verdict over Beaumont, and contributed to his cause with a triple and single. And on the 23d he rapped in two runs with a pinch double. Climaxing his season Hank was named the most valuable pitcher in the Texas loop at the end of the campaign. Somebody was wrong somewhere along the line when they sold Oana short.

Short Stops
Walt Erickson, Willamette mentor, had quite a time finding size 14 shoes for a couple of his grid candidates, Ernie Miller, 226 pound Salemite, and Bob Hill, center aspirant. Miller, a tackle possibility, was so eager to get in the thick of things that he actually went out for practice one day in his stocking feet. Walt won't have to worry about team spirit if all the boys have a similar attitude. . . . Well, Joe Kahut finally is mentioned as a light-heavy contender in the NBA ratings two days after he took a bad beating from Costello Cruz, and the ironic thing is that he deserved mention long before. Cruz wasn't listed at all. . . . We've all heard the pro and cons of whether a fan should return to the stadium after it's been hit into the stands. Now a new wrinkle appears. There was quite an argument at Yankee Stadium the other day after Johnny Lindell had accidentally thrown his bat into the box seats. With the inevitable result that a customer wanted to take the warclub home. We don't know who won out.

'Smiley', Bishop Vie for Gonfalon

Quick Beats Kammer, 3-1, With Hot Putter; Rival Wins, 10-9

SPRINGFIELD, N.J., Sept. 13-(AP)—The little man with the large, economy-size fighting heart, Smiley Quick, battled his way into the finals of the National Amateur golf championship at Baltusrol today, and tomorrow will tie up with Ted Bishop, a tall, balding oil salesman from Dedham, Mass., for one of the game's most coveted titles.

Quick, already holder of the national public links crown, won his way into the last 36-hole round with a tenaciously earned 3 and 1 victory over Freddie Kammer, now of Detroit, who virtually was brought up on Baltusrol's rolling acres. The Inglewood, Calif., electrician employed an almost magic putter to wrap up the triumph over a man who, most of the way, was the better player from tee to green.

Bishop, who once was a professional in his extreme youth and today, at 33, is an extremely cool, competent golfer, overwhelmed Bob Willis of Kansas City, 10 and 9, as the lead of averages finally caught up with the blond fellow from Missouri. Willis combined with a wide smile that he had come to the tournament "on vacation" and was dumfounded at reaching the semi-finals.

Red Sox Jolly Bunch As AL Pennant Nailed

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13-(AP)—There were gray, gloomy clouds over League park today, but there was sunshine in every corner of the Boston Red Sox' dressing room—for the idols of Beantown finally shattered a 28-year jinx and clinched the American league pennant. Appropriately enough, four Sox dove under the showers and struck up the opening chords of "You Are My Sunshine" as handsome Tex Hughson and tall Ted Williams, the real heroes of Boston's dramatic 1 to 0 victory over Cleveland, sat grinning at the happy melee.

Three teammates were pounding Hughson's back when stocky Johnny Pesky, who rapped one of the Sox' two hits, threw his arms around the Texan's neck and planted a kiss on his cheek. Tex grinned as Johnny rumbled his hair. "We've snapped out of our slump," Hughson chortled, "and I wouldn't be surprised if we won six or seven games in a row. We'll be hard to beat from here in and I'm glad we got this slump out of our system before world series time." Tex rubbed his strong right arm, which carried him to his 18th victory on a three-hit shutout, and added, "I never felt better in my life."

Brooks Win, 4-3; Bosox Clinch Flag

Cards' Margin 2½ Games; Bosox Beat Indians as Tigers Lose

BROOKLYN, Sept. 13-(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, fighting with the pressure heavily upon them, nosed the National league leading St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, here today to pull within 1½ games of the pacers. Two and a third innings of fine relief hurling by Kirby Higbe, who had relieved Joe Hatton in the seventh, saved the contest for the Dodgers. The Bums made short work of George Mauer in the first frame with a four-run explosion. The Pittsburgh Pirates took two from the Boston Braves, 4 to 2 and 10 to 1. Joe Beggs hurled the Cincinnati Reds to a 4 to 1 win over the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phils stopped the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 1.

Throgs Attend West Pageant

PENDLETON, Ore., Sept. 13-(AP)—Pool table sleeping space went for 40 cents a spot tonight as seemingly all the western world acclaimed the famed Pendleton Round-Up. A police-estimated throng of 60,000 lined the pavements of this town of 10,000 at 6 a. m. in anticipation of the Westward Ho parade. Stands were packed with 21,000 as cowboys rode and fell in quest of the bag of gold which will go to the champ. John Bowman, Okla., roped two steers in 43.6 seconds today and threatened to take the No. 1 spot. Bill McMackin, two-time round-up cowboy titlist from Chandler, Ariz., was thrown from competition by his bucking horse.

Swedes Topped Cup Inaugural

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 13-(AP)—The United States Davis cup team swept to a 2-0 lead over Sweden's European champions in the interzone finals today, winning the first two singles contests of the five-match series on the wind-blown center court at the West Side Tennis club before a slim crowd of some 1500.

Portland Track Opener Tonight

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13-(AP)—They were readying the nation's newest horse racing plant—Bill Kyne's million and a quarter Portland Meadows—tonight for its formal opening on Saturday night. Carpenters' hammers still were booming and electricians were stringing wires yet today in the nation's only major track to operate under the floodlights. An elaborate lighting system, tested for the first time last night, brought near daylight to the mile-long oval and adjacent grounds. Opening night will feature two handicaps, the seven-furlong Eugene for a $1200 purse and the mile and a sixteenth Salem, for $1500.
