

Willamette Law School Dean Prepared to Greet Full Classes

By Isabel Childs Rosebraugh
City Editor, The Statesman

House-hunting successfully completed, housecleaning in the law school (erstwhile navy) building well under way, Col. Seward P. Reese, new dean of Willamette university's college of law, is preparing to meet at a September 27 convocation the biggest study body in the college's history.

A freshman class of 75-80; second-year class of 16; and eight in the third-year class will comprise that group. To the four full-time faculty members Reese expects to add a full-time librarian, he said Tuesday. Only major change in the law school building as it returns from wartime to peacetime use is enlargement of the library under supervision of Dr. Roy S. Lockessour.

Reese, who taught at Syracuse university before entering the service, spoke of the building which houses law on the Willamette campus as superior to many in larger institutions of the nation. A former Salem postoffice, the structure is well, if not perfectly, adapted to its use as a college building, he said.

Staying at Sorority

Among other Willamette buildings the new law dean has been privileged to inspect is one sorority house (Chi Omega), where, with Mrs. Reese and their daughter and son, he has been living while seeking the private residence (1810 S. Church st.) into

Late Upswing Saves Grains

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Grain futures were nervous the greater part of today's trade, but toward the close started an upswing that carried all deliveries, except March oats, above yesterday's close.

Trade in wheat was light and the thin market responded to offerings. Announcement by the commodity credit corporation that the government had purchased an additional 3,070,000 bushels here, bringing the cumulative total to 13,646,011 bushels, had a stimulating effect.

At the close wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 higher than the previous finish, January $1.97 1/2. Corn was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, January $1.33 1/2. Oats were 1/4 to 3/4 higher, September 79 1/4, and barley was 1/2 to 2 cents higher, November $1.42 1/2.

Reports from Washington indicated the European wheat crop may have been underestimated and that exports from this country may fall below the goal set by the government.

Salvation Army Aids Destitute

There may be plenty of jobs, but no way has yet been found to do away with the kinds of emergency in which the Salvation Army often assists, the advisory board of the Army agreed at its meeting last week. Examples: A transient worker on his way home was in an automobile accident, was taken to the hospital minus shoes, apparently lost at the scene. The Salvation Army provided the shoes so that he could be discharged from the hospital upon his recovery.

A girl defense worker on route home was removed from a train here because of serious sudden illness. The hotel bill and other expenses ate up her last dollar; she lost the use of the remainder of her ticket, Army officers said, and a physician said her heart condition would keep her from working for a long time. A telegram to her father brought no money, but an appeal to the Salvation Army did, and she was transported to the home of a sister.

An agency of the Community Chest, the Army works in close conjunction with both county welfare and Red Cross offices, representatives of its advisory board declare.

Creamery Men to Switch Numbers

In a move to eliminate all dead timber in the official numbers allocated to creamery operators and distributors in Oregon, the state agricultural department is cancelling all present creamery and distributor numbers and will allocate new ones.

Officials said this is the first step in a program to return the state to fully legal requirements on consumer grades on butter. Under the Oregon law, all butter wrappers must bear a label showing the creamery or distributor number, the consumer grade emblem, the net weight and name and address of the manufacturer or distributor.

Voters' Pamphlets Ready for Mailing

Mailing of the voters' pamphlets, for the November election, will get under way early next week. David O'Hara, in charge of the state elections bureau, announced Tuesday. He said approximately 600,000 of these pamphlets would be required to supply all registered voters in the state.

O'Hara predicted a vote in November as large as that two years ago despite the closing of a number of shipyards and other war industries.

Legionnaires Plan Auxiliary

Immediate formation of a women's auxiliary for World War II post No. 136, American Legion, was authorized at last night's meeting when a motion passed to amend the post constitution, making organization possible.

The employment committee given authority to check into the opportunities of employment for veterans in the state penitentiary who are now eligible for parole. It was reported that there are now veterans eligible for parole, except that they cannot fulfill the requirement of already having a steady job on the outside.

Congressman Walter Norblad told the group that the seven representatives who are veterans have great difficulty getting on committees which deal with veteran affairs, but that the veteran will be represented well when congress reconvenes.

A sample $4.66 sleeping bag for sale to veterans by war assets administration was exhibited.

Kimmmel Suggests Legion Executive

Hiring of a full-time executive secretary for Capital Post No. 9 American Legion, today was on the list of innovations suggested by Rex Kimmmel, newly-installed commander of the post.

Limitation of post membership to 1051 persons, a life membership plan with fees to be placed in a trust fund and an increase in membership fees from $4 to $5 annually also were recommended by the new commander.

"I intend to activate the membership of this post," Kimmmel said, continuing that he hoped to minimize the number of members who do not contribute materially to the well-being of the post. "The American Legion must be a living example of man's responsibility to man," he said.

Jaycees Groups to Visit City for Talk

Junior Chamber of Commerce delegations from all over the valley will gather at Salem, October 1 to hear Selden E. Waldo, national president of Jaycees speak to the Salem chapter, Irwin Wedel, president of the local group said at their regular noon meeting Tuesday.

The Jaycees will take over the senior chamber of commerce banquet room for the occasion. As a feature of the Tuesday meeting Gordon Teach, representing Calvert Distilleries, gave an illustrated talk on the distilling and proper use of whiskey.

DAV to Join Vets Council

Salem Disabled American veterans post No. 6 authorized affiliation with the Marion county federated veterans council at last night's meeting, at the women's clubhouse.

Initiation of 15 new members was conducted by Dr. Roy Reynolds and orders for sleeping bags, a sample of which was on display, were taken by Commander Charles Peterson.

Verne L. Ostrander, A. L. Brewster and George Sandy were appointed to a membership committee after they had given reports on the recent DAV national convention. Special awards were won by Beverly Rinehart and William Richards.

TREATED FOR BURNS
