You Can Have The Statesman with you for The School Year for $4.00

In the belief that many college students, now away or soon leaving for their school year, would like to take The Daily and Sunday Statesman with them, we are making available an eight-months subscription at any college or university in the United States for $4.00. We must set a reasonable limit to the number of such subscriptions, in view of the still-very-acute paper shortage, but we believe our young citizens are well entitled to every consideration we can extend to them.

Corn Prices Show Decline

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—A break on both cash and futures prices of corn featured trading in the grain pits today. Weakness in the yellow cereal had little influence on wheat or oats, which finished on small changes in a quiet trade.

More warm weather in a major part of the corn belt, virtually assured a record-breaking crop, was a primary factor in the corn price downturn. Futures was predicted for tonight in northern areas of the belt, but leaders felt the grain was reasonably safe from material damage.

Wheat closed unchanged to 3/4 higher, January $2.01, corn was down 2-2 1/2 cents, a nearby $1 37 1/2-1/4, and oats were 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, November 80 1/4-1/4.

Market Ends Rallying Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—For the first time in almost two months the stock market enjoyed a rallying week although optimistic contingents were not so pleased with the fact that volume dwindled appreciably on the comeback.

The list, with the conclusion of September, made it four straight losing months notwithstanding the recent recovery stab and, from the 15-year high of May 29, in terms of quoted values, showed a loss of above $18,000,000,000 from the 17-month low of Sept. 19, however, it retrieved about $3,000,000,000.

The Associated Press 60-stock average on the week enjoyed a net advance of 1.5 points at 63.8. The last previous upturn for a similar stretch was a bare one-tenth of a point in the period ended Aug. 9. Volume for the final September week fell to 8,421,740 shares compared with 10,687,820 the week before and was the smallest of the month.
