Covered Dish Dinners, Replete with Meatless Dishes Draw Big Attendance

Shame on the restaurant manager who gets hysterical when meat prices go up and meat quantities down.

Women find the family will eat with great relish, any meatless dishes which are ingeniously concocted. Surely with a little thought, the professional cook could make good "meat dishes" without meat, or vegetable plates to please the diner. Some Salem restaurant owners are featuring such dishes and finding them attractive to customers.

When the words "covered dish" appear on the plans for club meetings in the city, they usually attract a large gathering—and practically always mean that there will be many meatless casseroles included in the menu. It might be interesting to check a bit on what's the big attraction.

Wednesday, going to the Woodburn Women's clubs' first fall meeting which included a "covered dish" lunch, I found lots to eat. The meal was served buffet style with main course arranged first and desserts later, on a lace cloth covered table. Coffee was served at a smaller table.

I took a cake expecting the lack of sugar to force a shortage of desserts, but found a variety of sweets just the same.

Main dishes included casseroles of macaroni and cheese, spaghetti with tomato sauce and a tuna and creamed egg dish which was attractively garnished with the egg slices.

Miss Ann Graham Engaged

Of interest to the bride-elect's many Salem friends is announcement of the engagement of Miss Ann Linden Graham, daughter of Mrs. David M. Graham of Eugene, formerly of Salem, and the late Mr. Graham, to George M. Rolander of Portland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Rolander of Portland. No date has been set for the wedding.

The news was revealed in Eugene Monday at a luncheon for which Mrs. Graham was hostess in honor of Mrs. William Connell Dyer, sr., of Salem. The announcement party was held at one o'clock in the Mirror Room at the Eugene hotel. Individual place cards with the couple's names engraved in silver revealed the news. Covers were placed for thirty guests including Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Frank H. Spears, sr., Mrs. Carlton McLeod, Mrs. Curtis B. Cross and Mrs. Prince W. Byrd of Salem.

Monday night Miss Graham was honored at the traditional candlelight engagement dinner at the Kappa Alpha Theta house, where a large box of candy contained the news of her betrothal. Later in the evening Miss Graham was hostess at a party at her intimate friends in Eugene honoring her house guest, Miss Edith Moxley of Salem, and Miss Phyllis Korn of Eugene, a bride-elect, with a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Graham and her fiancé graduated from the University of Oregon last June, where Mr. Rolander was a member of Theta Chi fraternity and Miss Graham of Kappa Alpha Theta. Mr. Rolander served as a captain with the 12th air force and is a veteran of 66 combat missions over France, Italy and Africa. He holds the DFC.
