U. S. Supreme Court to Convene Monday, Faces Tideland Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The supreme court, restored to full strength, opens a new term Monday which will decide the tideland dispute and many other vital questions. Twenty-one cases, an unprecedented total, remain from last term. On many the court split 4 to 4 while Justice Jackson was in Nuernberg to prosecute the Nazi war criminals. Others were postponed after Chief Justice Stone's death April 22 reduced the bench to seven justices. Now they will be reargued starting Oct. 14 for the benefit of Jackson and the new chief justice, Fred M. Vinson.

Two of these cases have been stalled since 1944. They involve the public utilities holdings company act.

Has Widest Interest
Among 54 cases filed last June which the court has agreed to consider, the tideland oil controversy is among those commanding the widest interest. It involves the question whether the federal government or the states own certain offshore lands which contain oil and other minerals.

Congress last session passed a bill yielding to the states any title the federal government have but President Truman vetoed it. He declared the question should be decided by the court, not by Congress.

Pauley Issues Recalled
The issue figured in the senate naval committee hearings on Edwin W. Pauley's nomination for undersecretary of the navy. Harold L. Ickes, then secretary of the interior, testified that Pauley held out the prospect of democratic campaign contributions from fellow California oilmen if the government's suit to establish title to the oil lands were dropped. Pauley denied it.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5 (AP)—An increase of 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents on ordinary wheat and 3 cents on high protein wheat marked the Portland cash wheat market this week, the department of agriculture said today.

The higher prices gave rise to larger shipments of soft white and white club wheat to the middle-west, the weekly grain market review said.

2 Nazis Leave Jail, Germans Seek Revenge

NUERNBERG, Oct. 4 (AP)—Two of the three acquitted Nazi leaders were spirited out of jail and given final freedom today by United States military authorities amid a growing uproar among Germans that the three be tried in German courts for crimes against their own people.

Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's banker, and Hans Fritzsche, propagandist, were released from prison and installed in downtown apartments. Franz von Papen, the diplomat, remained in jail waiting formal word on whether he could enter the British zone. A British spokesman said entry was barred to all three.

In Berlin 5000 persons, jamming a variety theatre in the soviet sector of the city, gave thunderous approval to a resolution that not only the three acquitted nazis, but also the seven who received prison sentences, be delivered to a German court here immediately.

"Give us Von Papen to try in the shattered reichschancellery, Schacht in the battered reichsbank and Fritzsche under the radio tower!" shouted one speaker.

Chin-Up Club Proves Boon to Handicapped

By Ann Reed Burns
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5 (AP)—The Chin-Up club of Oregon is awaiting wedding bells again. Another member is getting married. Wedding bells aren't unusual, but this particular chime is. For the Chin-Up club is composed entirely of physically handicapped people—spastics, the paralyzed, bedfast invalids, the blind and the lame.

Members come to meetings in stretchers and wheel chairs. The usual master of ceremonies is a boy so crippled with arthritis he can no longer bend his joints. He is carried in on a cot and stands rigid to direct the party.

The Chin-up club has done astounding work. It has helped to make invalids self-supporting and has enabled maimed persons who hadn't left their bedrooms in a decade to go to a party again.

The club is the branch of Beth Sellwood, 35-year-old daughter of a Salem farmer, withered by disease and muscular dystrophy.

In the spring of 1941 she started writing to patients she'd heard of, to addresses of persons mentioned in newspapers as wanting a wheelchair. Eventually, on Oct. 15, 1942, the club held its first meeting. Eighteen persons came.

Today the club has 500 members—mothers rearing their children from a wheelchair; a farmer whose paralyzed legs don't stop him from milking 11 cows a day and operating a 40-acre farm; a man unable to use arms or legs, who makes a living operating a telephone service specially rigged so that the receiver can be lifted and replaced without hands.

Johnny Kucera, 21-year-old Salem arthritis victim who weighs only 55 pounds, has started a business designing new Christmas cards out of old ones.

The Chin-Up club's fame has spread so far that it is revising its articles of incorporation—it was incorporated in Oregon in 1944 as a non-profit institution—to expand nationally. Handicapped persons have written from as far away as Holland.

Gas Consumption At Record High

The month of August, with sales of approximately 40,000,000 gallons of gasoline, established a new one-month record in Oregon. Secretary of State Robert S. Farrel, Jr., reported Saturday. Sales during the first eight months of the year aggregated almost 3,000,000,000 gallons.

Sale of motor fuels so far this year has netted the state $10,820,000 in tax revenue.

Prospects Dim For Strike End

By the Associated Press
Negotiations to end the five day old all-coast shipping strike collapsed Saturday night in an exchange of recriminations and with no prospects of settlement over the weekend.

Labor department efforts to end the tieup on the Atlantic and gulf coasts, leaving it in effect at least temporarily on the Pacific, were recessed until Monday afternoon and there were no indications of a quick agreement then.

Multnomah County Registration High

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5 (AP)—Multnomah county electors have set a new record for total registration with a total of 217,105 eligible for November balloting. County Registrar of Elections James W. Gleason said tonight.

Democrats, with 111,744 voters, outrank republicans, with 102,125 registered, approximately the same ratio as 1944 registration with a 9619 lead for the democrats compared to a 9188 lead in 1944.
