THE ART WORLD

By Maxine Buren
Woman's Editor, The Statesman

This week I received an invitation to attend a showing of paintings and a tea for Mrs. Myra Wiggins of the Argent Galleries in New York. The paintings are being shown from Sept. 30 to October 12.

Of course I was unable to see the show, but I did see some of her work at Frederick and Nelson's when on vacation there late in August.

Mrs. Wiggins has a gift for reproducing textures and colors, and her expression is definitely realistic. Her compositions of still life have interested me since I can remember, first when she lived here as Mrs. Fred Wiggins, later when I saw her in her Seattle studio years ago, and ever since, when Mr. Wiggins keeps me posted on important achievements.

Myra Albert Wiggins, sister of Mrs. George Rogers and of the late Joe Albert, studied in New York over 50 years ago from such noted teachers as J. H. Twachtman, Kenyon Cox, George deForest Brush and Frank Vincent Du Mond.

Though a great grandmother, Mrs. Wiggins makes periodic trips to the east for the showing of her work. She has a studio in Seattle where she teaches, paints and writes for magazines.

Mrs. Wiggins is also an amateur photographer of no little fame, having had her work hung in salons of America and Europe. Among the prizes won for her photography were two trips to Europe, one including Egypt and Palestine. She twice exhibited in the London Salon and in the Royal Salon.

All of the work shown this time in New York, Mr. Wiggins tells me in a letter, was painted by his wife after she became a grandmother, and they represent the best work of her life. Their daughter Mildred, now Mrs. Ruben J. Benz of Yakima flew to New York to attend the opening of the exhibit.

First fall meeting of the Nancy Black Wallace alumnae club of Pi Beta Phi will be held Thursday night at the North Summer street home of Mrs. James T. Brand. Assisting hostesses are Mesdames Marion Mulkey, Arthur Bone, Russell McFarland, Wayne Douglass, Manfred Olson and Miss Leila Johnson. A business meeting will follow the dessert supper at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. Elbert W. Roberts presiding.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Furvine and son, Billy, have been spending the weekend at their beach home at Neskowin.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Rindy (Arlene Olson) who were married September 27 at St. Mark Lutheran church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Emma Olson and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rindy of Madison, Wis. The couple will live in Madison. (Jeston-Miller)

Fraternity Has Pledge Dinner

A pledge dinner was held by Kappa Gamma Rho, to be installed to Beta Theta Pi, at the Golden Pheasant on Friday night. Howard Blanding was toastmaster. Ray Fedje, president gave the welcoming talk. The men will be wearing Beta Theta Pi pledge pins on October 14, when Dr. G. Herbert Smith, national president, conducts the pledge service.

Members present—were Dick Mauler, Winsor Acton, Earl Fedje, Bernie Phillips, Brewster Luthi, Arnie Acker, Bill Edwards, Frank Newell and Mark Hatfield.

The following pledges were honor guests: Dick Page, Don Breakay, Wes Bolliger, Fred Egman, Bill Gusey, Joe Brazie, Dale Cleaver, Al Fudge, Stuart Compton, Al Strumfjord, Bud Holmes and Sam Huston.

Social Day club of Chadwick chapter, OES will meet for a dessert luncheon Tuesday afternoon at the Masonic temple at 1:15 o'clock. Mrs. Paul Hauer heads the luncheon committee assisted by Mesdames John Minto, W. S. Pollis, W. L. Lewis and L. M. Ramage. Mrs. Carl Anthony and Mrs. P. W. Cooper are arranging the entertainment.

Members of the Marion-Polk county Medical auxiliary will gather for a no-host dinner Tuesday night at Nohlgren's at 6:30 o'clock with a business meeting and program following at the Center street home of Mrs. Kenneth Powen at 8 o'clock. Miss Marion Bowen, administrator of the Marion county welfare commission, will be the guest speaker.

FRESHMEN HONORED

Dr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith opened University House Monday night to all new students on the campus. A steady line waiting to get inside between 8 and 10 o'clock. Very informal and punch and cookies served in the dining room. Smiles on the faces of Joe College and Betty Co-ed as they met for the first time. Dancing in the game room with Sally Smith at the record player. . . . and sister, Margaret, directing guests from dining room to basement. . . .

A few freshmen were spied. Paulie Wallace in a chic grey belted coat with red felt hat. Vivacious Betty Lou Edwards with brumette, Avis Roberts, who hails from Astoria. . . . and Lois Mulcahy, all in black. . . . the quartet wearing new Pi Beta Phi pledge ribbons. . . . Travis Cross, Richard Page, Kay Huntington, and handsome Ray Fedje. . . . Congratulating each other on sorority pledging. . . . Meta Worridge and Doris Walser, Delta Gammas; Beverly Kenney, Betty Paulsen and Cherrie Raines, Alpha Chi Omegas. . . .

CHANGE OF ADDRESS
Mr. and Mrs. Homer V. Carpenter, who moved from here to Portland last January, have obtained a duplex on Willamette Heights near their son-in-law and daughter, the Frank Gilberts. . . . They have had an apartment on the east side.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank V. Prime, Sr., will soon be moving to their newly purchased home on the Silverton road, formerly owned by the Dean Trumbos, who are building a modernistic house on the adjoining acre. . . . While the Trumbos house is being completed they will be with her parents, the S. M. Earles.

The Jack McCullough (Barbara Porter) moved to their new home at 1020 Shipping street. . . . Since they returned from a wedding trip to San Francisco they have been painting and redecorating their house.

ANNOUNCING a new model. The Wayne Hadleys sent clever birth announcement to friends telling of the arrival of Allan Craig. . . . On the cover a picture of a new car. . . . GAME NOTES
Salem football enthusiasts turned out en masse for the first Salem high school game of the year. . . . the losers Klamath Falls, represented by a large rooting section. . . . coming north in decorated cars. . . . A few Salem high schoolers, Mrs. Harold Hauk, enthusiastic about her husband's return to coaching after navy duties with Mrs. Arthur Knox and Mrs. Russell Bonestele. . . . the Roy Keener, Mrs. Sari Cooley with the Gardner Knapps. . . . Ted Chambers with son, and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chambers, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Quackenbush. . . . A foursome. . . . Rolie and Doris Haag and the junior Lester Pearmain. . . . The E. Burr Millers and children. . . . the George Enighs with Diane. . . . Mrs. Tinkham Gilbert and four daughters. . . . and together were the Wallace Bonesteles and Merrill Ohlings.

Attracting many Salem matrons last Saturday was the tea Mrs. Harry Weinstein and her sisters gave for their younger sister, Bernice, who became Mrs. Jerome Semler the following day. . . . The Rose Room of the Multnomah hotel was the setting and exquisite was the tea table. . . . several dozen American beauty roses tied with matching ribbon for the centerpiece and down the table, smilax. . . . Bernice attractive in a gown of black and portrait blue with black sequin trim and sequin hat. . . . Mrs. Weinstein in black crepe with long gloves champagne with sequin fans. . . . sister, Gertrude, stunning in a champagne satin gown fashioned with shoulder cape, matching satin shoes and her chapeau of ostrich tips and veiling.

Glimpsed three former Salem matrons now living in Portland. . . . Mrs. Alden Adolph striking in a pearl grey suit with kelly green hat and purse over her shoulder. . . . Mrs. Richard Deviers smart in a grey and white stripe suit and grey felt with pom pom feather at the side. . . . and Mrs. Donald Deckebach chatting with Mrs. Carl Porter, who was black and her high crowned hat enhanced with mink tails. . . . Met Mrs. Alfred Keller, who was in Salem often when her husband taught violin at Willamette university, and Mrs. Henry J. Berkowitz, who accompanied her husband to the capital many times on legislative engagements. . . . Mrs. Leonard Goldblatt in a chic plaid suit and felt hat of London mist and Mrs. Ben Wittner, the two later going out to Portland Meadows for the races. . . . A beautiful orchid pinned to the fox collar of Mrs. Henry Simmons' coat, the occasion her 28th wedding anniversary.

"Holly" Says:

Some of the boys around town are talking about New Year's so I'll be a little different. I'll say a few words, to you eager people, about Christmas. Wouldn't have mentioned it if the other fellows hadn't started this holiday talk but it reminded us of Christmas and wondered if the little wife or the sweetheart was going to get that diamond ring this year or are we going to have to pound and pound for another year. If you will come in now and select a diamond out of our (now) large stock you will be all set for Christmas and won't have to be fretting around when things get hard to get, diamonds we mean, son. Drop a few "greens" now and a few again and by Christmas you'll be all fixed up, and good.
