

'Fan Mail' Sent To Convicted Nazi Leaders

HERMANN Goering's date with the hangman next week prevented him from accepting an invitation today to attend a proposed poster exhibition by the Communist Party in Düsseldorf in the near future.

The invitation was one of many such letters the condemned post-war prisoners are receiving every day from security officers disaffected.

Major Frederick Teich, prison guard officer, said Goering also received a letter mailed in Germany but with a return address in Sweden and signed "Carin Goering" apparently from someone trying to appear to be his former wife. "Mrs. Goering" is dead.

No letters of this sort which are apt to upset him are given Goering," Teich said.

The security officer said Goering's incoming mail is increasing and now averages about 10 letters a day.

Goering is reported to read all letters avidly but spends most of the day lying flat on his bunk, smoking a long Bavarian pipe and staring into space.

Fritz Sauckel, scheduled to die with Goering, "hasn't had a fan letter in weeks, Teich said, but for the past few days has been writing furiously, apparently to members of a large family and friends.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, according to Teich, has written several letters to "titled people" in Britain. In one of them he asked a former associate to give him a job with his former firm and expressed regret that soon all his ties with the firm would be terminated.

Terms of Adair Disposition Unrevealed

Exact terms of the disposition of Camp Adair remain uncertain today, pending further word from Washington, but it appears likely that sale of property by the building, with federal agencies getting first priority, will be conducted, it was stated yesterday by C. T. Mudge, WAA chief in Portland.

He said the earlier plan to dismantle buildings and sell the lumber has been abandoned. Just how the sale of buildings will be conducted and to what extent the buildings might be made available to alleviate veterans' housing shortages, however, remain to be seen, Mudge said.

Veterans with HH priority probably will follow the federal agencies, small business and state and local governments in priority. WAA anticipates in Portland. Last month the League of Seven Cities, headed by Albany, made offers to obtain Camp Adair buildings for a veterans' housing colony at the camp site.

Reports from Washington, D. C., last night stated that the Camp Adair land itself has been turned back to the farm credit administration for sale to former owners and other buyers. Associated Press said the 60,000 acres of Oregon land involved includes 55,498 acres at Adair and small acreages at Camp Abbott, Troutdale, Madras army air field and a site near Eugene, all used by the armed forces during the war.

Truman Holds Resignations of WSB Officials

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—The future of the government's pay controls was up in the air tonight as President Truman delayed accepting the resignations of the two industry members of the wage stabilization board.

A. Colman Barrett and Early N. Cannon, reported to be dissatisfied because the board was bypassed in order to give maritime strikers more money than it was willing to sanction, asked that their resignations be made effective today. But Mr. Truman said at a news conference that he had made no decision on whether to accept them.

Barrett told reporters after the White House statement that he would attend a meeting of the board scheduled for tomorrow. But in a formal statement he added that "Mr. Cannon and I are of the opinion that all wage controls should be ended. We hope that the president will not deliberate too long in accepting our resignations and ending all wage controls."

Mrs. Mumm to Head Marine League Group

Mrs. Christine Mumm last night was elected president of the Salem unit of the Marine Corps League auxiliary when it met jointly with the local Marine Corps League at Normandy Manor.

Other new officers are Mrs. Emma Power, senior vice president; Mrs. Lucille Jonsrud, junior vice president; Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, judge advocate; Mrs. Pearl Simkins, treasurer; Mrs. Billie Berger, historian; Golda Wheeler, captain of the guard, and Mrs. Pro, chaplain.

Commandant George Wilkinson announced to the league that sale of two Jima buttons will feature the local observance of two Jima days to commemorate the marine corps birthday November 10. The league also is planning a no-host dinner party at Normandy Manor November 14, with all marines and their families invited. Reservations may be made by calling 5848.

Vets Oppose CPA Defiance

Defiance of housing regulations in Grants Pass and elsewhere was scored last night by the Marion County Federated Veterans council in a resolution backing the national housing policy of Wilson Wyatt.

The resolution was adopted by the representatives of major veterans organizations in the county, at their meeting in the state library building, favoring "complying with the laws of the nation and directives and regulations of the CBA and the national housing expediter, Wilson Wyatt, in a truly democratic manner, in order that the intent of congress to provide housing for veterans of world war II be achieved."

No veterans are involved in reported violations of civilian production administration regulations at Grants Pass, a letter from Nelson English, regional CPA director, revealed to the council.

Appointed to a constitutional committee by the CBA is a Don Goodie, Allan Carson, Tyrone Gillespie, Paul Hendricks, Samuel Harveson and Perry T. Buren. The next council meeting will be held October 24.

Suspension of Flights Lifted

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 10—(AP)—An unexplained suspension of American plane flights over Czechoslovakia and Russian-controlled Hungary, was lifted suddenly today but a U. S. military ban still remained on flights by either civil or military aircraft over Romania.

Officials in headquarters of U. S. forces in the European theater steadfastly refused to give any reason either for yesterday's original suspension order or for the confusing removal of the Czech and Hungarian bans.

(Military officials in Washington expressed the private belief that the temporary ban was due to maneuvers or other troop movements.)

LONDON, Oct. 10—(AP)—A total of 383 persons are living as "squatters" in 1,038 army camps in Britain, Minister of Health Aneurin Bevan told the commons today.

Green Rejects British Bid for World Unions

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—(AP)—AFL President William Green today flatly turned down a British bid to cooperate with the world federation of trade unions, a group including the CIO in its membership but tagged by Green as communist-dominated.

Green told the American Federation of Labor convention he thought the British labor movement's position was "contradictory" because it cooperated with Soviet Russia in the WFTU yet refused to accept the communist party in the British labor party.

The AFL leader spoke in reply to a speech delivered to the conventions by Thomas O'Brien, a fraternal delegate representing the British trade union congress and a member of parliament.

O'Brien had asked the AFL, regardless of whether it agreed with WFTU policies, to cooperate in the interest of a unified worldwide trade unionism.

Reds Refuse To Register

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—The soviet consulate said today 11 citizens of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, who came here to attend the American Slavic congress, had been ordered home by their government rather than comply with a justice department order for them to register as agents of a foreign power.

Anatol Yakovlev, vice consul of the soviet consulate general, said a scheduled appearance for the 11 persons at a Slav mass meeting tonight in Gary, Ind., had been cancelled and that all of them would go home "as soon as arrangements can be made."

All 17 were asked by the justice department to register as foreign agents. Yakovlev said he had no information concerning what action might be taken by the six non-citizens of the USSR.

Short-Lived Revolt Staged In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 10—(AP)—A young Portuguese army officer led a small group of cavalrymen and armored cars on a "march to glory" to conquer freedom in northern Portugal in a short-lived revolt today, it was reported here.

The incident caused the government of Premier Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar to take extraordinary precautions in the capital and cut the city off from communications with most of Portugal and the world.

An unofficial communique said the uprising began when a group of noncommissioned army officers entered a cavalry barracks, "dragged out 70 soldiers" and marched them southward.

Subsequently the group was stopped by other soldiers and surrendered without fighting, the communique said, adding: "There is complete calm throughout Portugal." The bulletin claimed that only one regular army officer took part in the uprising.

(Authoritative diplomatic sources in London said reports had been reaching the British government of opposition to the "benevolent dictatorship" of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar and that "deep rumblings of discontentment, if not exactly a civil war" could be expected.)

Police indicated that the boy was to receive treatment from his family physician, but he was not seriously injured.

Page was cited by police for operating a motor vehicle with deficient brakes, causing an accident. He is to appear in city court at 10 o'clock this morning.

High Court Ponders Parking Meter Case

The Oregon supreme court has under advisement today the case of Morris vs. the city of Salem in which the right of the city to install parking meters is at stake. Final court decision is not expected for about two weeks, it was understood.

Hearing of the opposing attorneys' arguments closed Wednesday. The case had been appealed by the city after a Marion county circuit court had held for the plaintiff.

War Workers Get $12 Million In Jobless Pay

Oregon's war plant workers have received more than $12,000,000 in unemployment compensation since V-J day, the state unemployment compensation commission reported Thursday.

Benefit payments to former shipyard and aircraft plant workers have dropped from 80 per cent of the state's total a year ago to 60 per cent, and the amount paid to all war workers since Japan surrendered is about half the amount paid into the state trust fund by war-time industries in the last six months, the commission stated.

About 20 per cent of the war-time workers have left the state, the commission said. Of the 26,419 workers who exhausted their benefits this year, 17,346 were from the shipyards and other war industries. Oregon shipyards and aircraft plants paid $920,000,000 in wages in the last six years, Administrator Silas Galzer said.

The commission revealed that 12,484 of the 58,240 persons with valid 1946 claims have asked no benefits, and 8,000 additional workers were denied claims. The commission indicated that payments to former war workers may pass the $13,000,000 mark before December 31.
