Deputies Don Natty New Uniforms Today

Marion County Sheriff Denver Young is shown inspecting his four criminal department deputies in their new uniforms which will be worn beginning today. Marion county is the third in the state to have uniformed deputies, and this is the first time that any uniform has been worn by Marion county sheriffs. Left to right is Deputy G. D. De Vall, Sheriff Denver Young, and Deputies G. D. Henderson, W. A. Wilson, and J. J. Garvin. The colorful dark green trimmed in grey uniforms were purchased by the individual deputies. Student Pilot Hits Sawmill In West Scio

SCIO, Oct. 13-(Special)-Crash of a Piper cub piloted by student flier Joseph Clark, 25, resident of the Roaring River hatchery area, between two buildings of the Lulay Bros, planing mill in West Scio today brought from civil aeroupper lip.

Myles Rugenberg, Portland, and Carl Rothenburger, Seattle, both CAA officials, said in Albany late today that their examination of the crashed plane indicated there was no mechanical failure of the motor and that the student pilot had been warned before his flight not to leave the vicinity of the Lebanon airport where he has been receiving instruction.

Witnesses of the crash said the low-flying plane was gliding when one wing struck the roof of a shingle shed and spun the plane to the ground through the 8-foot strip between that roof and another building. Only the right wing of the plane remained intact. Clark told observers his motor failed and he was attempting a forced
