"Right and Heritage"

The proposed Little Townsend bill sets forth as one of its purposes. To make such pension the right and heritage of that the president "do something," every qualified citizen.

If this fool bill passes such pension would become a legal right that could be claimed by all persons eligible; but morally limited. He cannot force men to it would merely be legalized robbery. For the bill contemplates taxing the people including heads of families with limited incomes to pay pensions even to those who may be rich. You tax lacks the power and the people do Joe Donkes, with a wife and six kids, who has an income of not want to give him the power $1800 a year, $24 and distribute the money to, among others, As mediator, his success depends Mr and Mrs. Gottrox with no children and with incomes already to accept his decision. Yet the of $25 000 a year. What moral right does society have to do president is expected to settle that? Glossing the steal over by legal phraseology doesn't make these and other issues on the basis it any more righteous.

We doubt if the sponsors of the bill understand the higher net, but often that is something mathematics involved. An insurance company actuary has fig- of a political or personal hodgemathematics involved. An insurance company actor a month to podge. Noting the need for a used the thing out. He computes that to pay $100 a month to "ministry of all the talents," Prof. each of 100.000 persons who would be eligible would mean, if we were to capitalize the obligation, setting up a fund of book on "The American Presi-$1 650 000,000, the interest from which would be required to meet | dency," this pension bill. The state's assessed valuation is only a little over $1,000,000,000, while the pensioners, in effect, would consume the substance from a sum over three and a half times a team of first-rate minds poolgreater. The pension is to be paid out of current income, to be sure, nevertheless it diverts from labor and industry fruits which are needed to support the whole population and give gress, which often piles duties on them to a limited class.

Another computation has been made which shows the average tax to provide this pension would amount to $622 per family in the state. What home wants to add $622 to its budget for taxes? The direct tax of three per cent on all income over $100 per month might be far less than $622, but the hidden taxes through increases in costs of food, clothing, shelter, etc. would in his defeat

No one can tell how much this three per cent gross income tax would raise, but an estimate of $400,000,000 per year has been made. The total of state and local revenues including gas tax, liquer commission revenues, property and income taxes amounted to less than $80,000,000 for the fiscal year 1943-44. This three per cent tax would mean the tax bill for the people also that his defeat was a humiliof Oregon would be increased FIVE times. Anyone with sense ation of the office he occupies. in his head should know that such a tax load would wreck the state

The answer that this money would improve business because the pension has to be spent in 30 days is no answer because the money doesn't go back in equal amounts to those from whom it was taken. Those on the short end would suffer. And the money does not go back through channels of trade without getting its equivalent in goods and services. It isn't forcement? The country yearns have

Society has assumed the obligation of making provision for a strong leader, yet growls and grumbles when one exercises power. If the people out of a sense of social responsibility, are willing to take care of elderly persons who are destitute that does not constitute a "right" for those not in need to get a bounty from the state on account of age.

"The Old Roman"

Vote 315 X NO.

They called Senator Strayer an "old Roman" and so he was. He wore the toga of his office in the mood and manner of Roman senators in the days of Cicero. He was dean of the senate, the length of his service giving him great prestige. He was a power in his own strength as well. An orator of the old school he was eloquent on occasion and made the rafters ring with his arguments for or denunciations of pending legislation.

Strayer was a conservative, a real Thomas Jefferson democrat, and when he took a position he was immovable, a supporter or foe to be reckoned with. Sometimes his conservatism made him an obstructionist of progressive legislation; but it made him also a watchdog of the treasury during his long years of service on the ways and means committee.
