Broken Noses, Legs Feature Accidents

LEBANON—Coincidence played a part in the injuries of six peo- ple involved in a head on colli- sion on the highway south of Leb- anon Saturday at 5:30 p.m. Three victims: Lewis Coakley, Mrs. Car- roll Cummings and Orville Heyne all had their right legs fractured just below the knee. Lewis Coak- ley and his nephew, Alan Coakley each had broken noses.

Also hospitalized were Carroll Cummings and Wilbur Parrish. None of the group could give any explanation of how the accident happened. The two Coakleys and Parrish were in their "crummy" driving toward town from work. Mr. and Mrs. Cummings who had been in town to have a physician dress Cummings' hand, broken in a mill accident, were waiting for a taxi when they were offered a ride by Heyne who was driving a light weight coupe. The crash occurred near the Fairview store and the noise called out the neighbors but there seem to have been no witnesses to the accident. It is hoped that none of the injured are critical.
