

Board Meet On Tuesday

University of Oregon mothers will hold their January board meeting in Salem on Tuesday. In the morning the group will visit the legislature, followed by luncheon at the Salem hotel at 12:45 o'clock. A business meeting will be held after the luncheon hour.

Over forty members comprise the board. The state is divided in eight districts with a vice president heading each. There are fifteen mothers groups in the state. New ones were recently organized at Medford, Grants Pass and Oregon City, with several others now forming organizations. The board elects fifteen directors-at-large with five chosen each year.

Salem mothers on the board are Mrs. John H. Carlin, state president; Mrs. Albert C. Graag, secretary; Mrs. George Swift, vice-president of district No. 2; and Mrs. Walter Kirk, president of local mothers group.

Lollypops No Help For Sweet-Tooth

By Artie Phillips
WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY (Special)—Reverting to the instinctive... Lausanne hall women holding their "Open House" today with the theme, "Sugar and Spice." Seems the table decorations will consist of huge lollypops, donated by the refreshingly youthful decorations committee. However the delectable-appearing lollypops will not be divided between the hostesses after the party, as cardboard is not too digestible.

Decimal dodger... Warren James, ex-swabbie who received his terminal leave pay, $350.00 in bonds and a check for $46.00, paying Salem streets with cash on the way to the bank, only to discover through the bank cashier (who is paid to use decimals) that his check read $00.46, not $46.00.

Ex-hoo yard police inspector Louis Bonney has discovered the way to his lady's heart... Her cashmere sweater now boasts a deputy sheriff's badge. Cribbage may be a "game of cards which two or more players may enjoy" to Noah Webster, but to the poor harassed faculty it's no fun. Seems Willamette students have been getting too chummy

Lively, vice president: Joan Seamster, secretary; Sharon Beer, treasurer; Barbara Culbertson, scribe.

The Takoda Camp Fire group met with Mrs. O. D. Youngquist Jan. 24. After a short business meeting, the girls planted daffodils. To close the meeting, songs were sung.
