Don't Look Now...

but... the cigaret advertisers spend lots of time convincing the public how much less nicotine their products contain... wouldn't it be simpler to suggest that everyone just quit smoking? No cigarets, no nicotine.

And that out of the way... there would be so much more room on the air for sob operas for mamma and crime stories for the kiddies.

Added course... We see they are going to have a police training school soon, wonder if they'll teach the boys in blue how to hear the backfiring from the large buses and huge transport trucks as they go roaring up and down Court street at night, or will it only include the elementary course in hearing the defective mufflers of jalopies during the afternoon early evening?

HL professor!... Someone put the Dutch Cleanser shaker where we always keep our sprinkler can of both powder, and us in an absent minded state at the time, ugh... Well, that isn't any worse than when another illustrious member of the family used the white shoe paste instead of cream deodorant, is it? ... Maxine Buren
