Bill Set for Battle

He has a rough chore ahead of him, for arguing with "Loquaclous Larry" MacPhail, classed by some as champion wordsman of them all, isn't an enviable task. But Villager Bill Bevens left for New York Sunday a confident baseball pitcher. He is convinced his side of the holdout argument will stand up against any of the MacPhail proposals and, when he departed Sunday, vowed he would man his guns all the way. Faced with the possibility that he may wind up as exhibit A in a swap to another American league club. Bill hopes it will be with the Red Sox or Detroit Tigers if such is to be his fate. Should no terms be reached and no deal is made for the 16-game winner of '46. "Bev" will likely head for home. But since he took with him some new duds he intends "wearing Walters in Puerto Rico," perhaps Bill feels Jernigan he has the vocal ammunition to Cushing outshoot MacPhail. Hart, Belcastro in Title Brawl Tonight

The crunch collision the mat customers have been waiting for the past weeks - - Fireball Frankie Hart vs. punch-happy Pete Belcastro - - features Matchmaker Elton Owen's weekly card tonight at the Ferry Street Garden. And this time the two gladiators who panicked the premises the last time they got together in a bloodspattered brawl will be deciding who will wear the Coast junior heavyweight title belt tomorrow morning. The Weed, Cal., walloper, whose main forte is parking his fists most anywhere on an opponent, was forced into tonight's natural by Owen when Belcastro spent three weeks ducking another scrap with Hart. Frankie beat the nasty the last time and did such a good job of it he refused to grapple Hart again - - until Owen stepped in with the ultimatum, "wrestle him for your title or get no more
