Don't Look Now...

but... We have such an allergy for the way those lights on Center street are timed that even the car radio observes a moment of silence as we drive under them.

Slow progress... While eating lunch Saturday we observed a group of four children waiting for traffic to open up enough for them to pass across Court street enroute home from the library. Twenty one cars passed without giving way for the cautious children, who finally crossed only by following an adult couple who went, regardless of motorists. We wonder if those children's business was only 1/21 as urgent as the drivers of the cars. May we never be guilty of considering our business too important that we make it hard for children to observe the rules of caution in traffic.

The Old Lamplighter... poor fellow, he's so old he can't make it up to Court street half the time. Or is it that he's so sentimental (having heard all about "soft lights and spring nights") that he turns on only a teeny weeny little globe away up on top of each post, for fear of making our main street too bright for romance.

Forgotten... Floridians in fur coats and smudge pots, New Yorkers shivering in snowdrifts, Londoners riding the subways to keep warm--and we in Marion county enjoying soft warm rains and early spring hats and the radio commentators having the nerve to say, "Whole world shivers except Southern California." P. S. We haven't heard a single unfavorable comment on the weather since brown-out became Attlee's favorite color.

Wrong somewhere... We've been using Vano on our woodwork all week and we still think we are working too hard.

Couple Married At Home Rites

The home of Mrs. George Gutekuntz was the scene of the wedding of Miss Daisy Woodrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Woodrum of Turner, and Ivan W. Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase of Jefferson.

Mrs. Gutekuntz assisted by the groom's brother, the Rev. W. W. Bock of Tangent read the service before the fireplace. Preceding the ceremony Mary Wafford sang accompanied by Margaret Boyer of Turner.

The bride wore a baby blue suit with a corsage of white carnations and pink rose buds. Frances Woodrum was her attendant.

Attending the groom was his cousin, William F. Somppi of Brownsville.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mary Wafford cut the cake and Miss Evalene Woodrum and Margaret Boyer served. Eva Hansen passed the guest book and Ardis Bradley had charge of the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase will live in Turner.

Prayer Day Is Next Friday

World day of prayer will be observed Friday at the First Methodist church, sponsored by the Salem council of church women. Dr. Joseph M. Adams will open the meeting at 10 a. m. with a service. A business meeting and hour of prayer will follow. Mrs. Charles Garrison will be the morning soloist.

At 12:30, luncheon will be served and at 1:30 o'clock, Mrs. M. J. Gilson will open the afternoon session with organ numbers. E. R. Moon, a missionary to Africa will address the group and music will be furnished by John Schmidt, jr., and Mrs. Lyle Ertsgaard, soloists, and a group of young women from Chemawa.

WSSC Meeting On Wednesday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church will hold the regular monthly meeting in the Carrer room on Wednesday. The business meeting is set for 10:45, followed by a no-host luncheon at noon.

The afternoon session will include a talk on "Children of One World" by the Rev. Allen Wilcox of Chemawa and music by students of the Indian school. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Roy Lockenour. All women are invited, a nursery is maintained for small children.

The Salem district Oregon Music Teachers association will hold a meeting at the studio of Miss Margaret Hogg Tuesday at 8 o'clock. A short program, including a talk on creative music by Mrs. David Eason and songs by Miss Ruth Bedford, will be preceded by a short business session.

Theatre Arts group will be entertained at the Fisher apartment of Miss Alice Cray Brown, 336 Oak street, Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock. Mrs. Maurice Brennen will read "Over 21" by Gordon.

The Alpha Chi Omega alumnae will meet at the chapter house Monday at 8 o'clock for a dessert supper. Hostesses will be Mrs. Wilmer Wells, Mrs. J. W. Stanley and Mrs. George Fell.

Camp Fire Corner

The Happy Go Lucky Blue Birds met with their leader, Mrs. Jasper Button on Feb. 6, and after a short business meeting visited the Dairy Co-op.

February 6 was also the day for the Okavapi group to meet with their guardian, Mrs. Martin Schmidt. They made a tour of the capitol building, visiting the house of representatives, senate, governor's room and the dome.

Mrs. A. P. Sprague met with the Wicaka group of Camp Fire Girls at the Evangelical church. Mary Beelar served refreshments, after which games were played. The Ducky Doodle Blue Birds, under the leadership of Mrs. W. R. Criswell, met February 10 at the home of Rona Lee Lanham.

Mrs. Howard Houston met with the Sacajawea group at the Calvary Baptist church for a valentine party Wednesday. Mr. Houston was a guest.

Cheskaehany Camp Fire Girls, led by Mrs. Edwin Pease, gave a valentine party for parents and sponsors, February 14, at Beaver hall. This party fulfilled one of the requirements for the Wood Gatherers rank.

On February 5 Mrs. Paul Holloway met with the Merry Blue Birds at Washington school. The following officers were elected: Nancy Tragar, president; Judy Seely, vice-president; Diane Don, secretary; Jackie LaDue, treasurer; and Carolyn Hildreth, scribe. On Wednesday, February 12, they discussed Mexico, which they are studying for the birthday project. They also made rock plants for their mother's presents.

The Taodis group met with their guardian, Mrs. O. D. Youngquist on February 13 for a valentine's party at Mrs. Youngquist's home.
