Miss Pope A Bride

At a 3 o'clock ceremony this afternoon at the First Christian church Miss Lola Pope, daughter of Mrs. John F. Turner, will become the bride of Dale Worthington, son of Mrs. Mary J. Worthington. The Rev. Dudley Strain will officiate and Mrs. John Schmidt, Jr. will be the organist. Mrs. Constance Johnson will be soloist. Lighting the tapers will be Miss Dorothy Nolan and Miss Doris Engelhart, who will wear pink dresses.

Mr. Turner will give the bride away. She will wear a white satin gown designed with a sheer yoke on the bodice which is edged with a lace ruffle. The sleeves are long and the full skirt terminates in a train. Her full length veil is edged in lace and cascades from a crown of orange blossoms. She will carry a white Bible marked with an orchid.

Mrs. Wynono Simpson will be the honor attendant and bridesmaid will be Miss Dolores Purdum. They will wear blue dresses with net skirts and sheer bodices. Their bouquets will be of pink and white carnations.

Paul Worthington will be best man for his brother and ushers will be A. G. Worthington and Sidney Murray.

Mrs. Turner has chosen a grey dress with black redingote for the nuptials and Mrs. Worthington will wear a black ensemble. Their corsages will be of gardenias and rosebuds.

The newlyweds will greet guests in the foyer of the church immediately following the ceremony. They will go to southern California on their honeymoon and for traveling the bride will wear a steel grey suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. They will live in Salem.

Lehman-Ketchum Vows Read

ROSEDALE—On February 16 in the Rosedale Friends church, Miss Lois Acworth Ketchum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wayne Ketchum of Milwau, Ore., and Almon A. Lehman, son of Mrs. Frieda Lehman of Salem were married by the Rev. Oscar Brown.

The bride wore a white wool dressmaker suit with powder blue feather hat and a white blouse with powder blue sequin trim. Her corsage was gardenias surrounded by pink bouvardia. She carried a white Bible.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Binzenheimer attended the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Binzenheimer wore a powder blue suit with blue and white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For going away Mrs. Lehman wore a light grey three-quarter length coat with the new fall back and full flowing sleeves.

After a week's honeymoon at the coast Mr. and Mrs. Lehman will live at his farm home on route 3. He served three years with the army medical corps.

Migratory Camp Subject

The Salem Council of Women's Organizations, meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the chamber of commerce, heard George Kellogg and Robert Parks from the Salem active club speak on the milk fund they are using as a project and in which they wish to interest other groups.

Fred Settle, manager of the migratory camp talked about the camp, telling needs for a day nursery for children while parents are at work in the summer. He also talked about a need for building up the recreation room. Capt. R. B. Lester of the Salvation army talked on the camp also, discussing how help may be given occupants for future development.

Mrs. Lawrence Fitzgerald presided at the business meeting.

The Sojourners will meet for a dessert luncheon on Thursday afternoon at 1:15 at the Salem Woman's clubhouse. Hostesses will be Mesdames Howard Post, T. J. Wise, Carl Wood and Harvey Ronne.

Navy Mothers will meet Tuesday night at the YWCA and will serve their husbands with a post-host dinner at 6:30. J. E. Lemon, CMM, of the recruiting office, will be the speaker at the meeting.

Don't Look Now...

but... A boy in shirt sleeves and a girl in a pink dress looked very much like the children of 12 years that they were Wednesday night, but they played like adults. A roomful of children listened attentively through the entire performance.

Time keeper... One of the adults in the room fascinated me as she kept perfect time with her jaws. Funny this gum-chewing habit, usually indulged in most enthusiastically by persons with big mouths.

To a wild rose... An acquaintance was trimming a very husky looking climbing rose, which I happened to know was an American Pillar. She whacked away and turned to me and said "I'm going to cut this thing way back--it's just an old wild rose, why, it isn't even double!"

Last word... Seeing a pile of manure reposing within smelling distance of our back door, I recall an incident of many years ago, which has always been one of the family's favorites. Our elderly neighbor called mother one day, requesting that we take a pair of pink panties off our line in the back yard because "I'm having a tea this afternoon." (In the front of the house on the other side.) A week later, we were greeted with a truck load of stable manure, dumped just across the boundary line opposite our livingroom windows.

Pease to Sing Here

On Wednesday night, a Salem audience will hear James Pease, young American bass-baritone who will appear at the Salem high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Crescendo club. This is the final in the series of programs presented by that group during the winter.

Pease was educated in law, and after passing the bar, entered the singing field, winning a scholarship to the Philadelphia of vocal arts. Two years later he made his professional debut with the Philadelphia opera company. Success seemed assured, but after two years of singing he enlisted in the army and served in the air corps as a Flying Fortress instructor.

Upon his discharge in 1945, he again took up concert work and has made appearances on the air, in opera and recitals.

Season Crescendo club series tickets will be honored, or admission may be purchased at the door. The program is set for 8:15 o'clock.
