DDT Lauded As New Spray

SPOKANE, Feb. 24-(AP)—David Brennon, extension entomologist of Washington State college, said today that the use of D. D. T. as a fruit spray may change the entire spray program.

Speaking before 150 fruit tree growers at the annual Spokane (bunty horticultural school, Brennon said the chemical's chief advantage is that it cuts the number of sprays necessary from eight to three.

"D. D. T. is the most effective spray for codling moths ever developed. It acts differently from other insecticides in that it des-troys adult moths in the orchard and kills the young worms before they can enter the apple," he said. "Worms that may have entered the fruit before the spray was applied are also killed."

Broadhurst Murder Trial Opens at Vale

VALE, Ore., Feb. 24-(AP)—A marriage license hovered in the background as the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Gladys Lincoln Broadhurst, 40-year-old red-headed widow accused of conspiring with a young chauffeur to kill her wealthy husband, opened here today.

Both District Attorney Charles Swan and Robert Lytle, attorney for the 23-year-old chauffeur, held photostatic copies of a marriage license issued in Reno, Nev., last September 17 to an Elaine Hamilton and Albert Williams.

Williams is the name of the chauffeur who police said signed a statement admitting slaying W. D. Broadhurst, 51, last October, and who will go on trial for first degree murder next month. Mrs. Broadhurst's middle name is Elaine.

Neither of the attorneys would comment on the license, nor would either deny that it would be brought up during the trial. Mrs. Broadhurst, who had been married at least five times previously, was bequeathed $30,000 by the rancher whom she wed last spring.
