

Fund Transfer To Put Chest Over Quota

The Marion county chest will report at a meeting of the Oregon Chest at the Marion hotel Monday that it has met in full its quota to the state chest. This is made possible by action of the directors of the Salem Community Chest Thursday in appropriating $1080 to overcome the deficiency in collections for the county chest outside of the Salem area. The money collected by the state chest is distributed among the child caring organization in the state such as Boys and Girls Aid society, Children's Farm Home, etc.

The Salem chest also voted to cooperate with the county organization in developing a plan for closer coordination of work of the city and county chests. Walter Bell, president of the county chest, is appointing a committee to work out a plan of reorganization in this way it is hoped that county-wide chest campaigns can be conducted more successfully.

Fifty-voice choir of the First Evangelical United Brethren church, Marion at Summer st., directed by the Rev. Wilmer N. Brown, will present an illustrated cantata pageant, "Mary Ye Until," Sunday, at 7:30 p.m. Music, drama, and art will be blended together in recalling the scenes of some of the incidents of the last days of Christ's life on earth. The well-known cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by J. H. Maunder, will comprise the music for the program. Setting for the pageant, written by the Rev. Wilmer N. Brown, is in the Upper Room with Peter and John shown in the foreground as they are tarrying for Pentecost.
