

Evidences of 'Lost Colony' Fort In North Carolina Unearthed

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Government archeologists, excavating on historic Roanoke Island, said tonight they have uncovered evidence of an ancient fort which may have housed the ill-starred "lost colony" of North Carolina.

They also found a charcoal pit which, they said, may have been prepared as one of the last acts of the colonists before they disappeared.

The excavation is under way at the Fort Raleigh national historic site, not far from Kitty Hawk, N.C., where the Wright brothers gave aviation its start.

In furtherance of charter rights from Queen Elizabeth to Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Richard Grenville established a colony of 108 persons on the island in 1585. The group returned to England with Sir Francis Drake in 1586.

Members of a second party of 15, left at Roanoke Island the same year, apparently were killed by the Indians.

John White's colony arrived in 1587, and in August of that year Virginia Dare was born, the first white native of the new world.

White went to England for supplies. When he returned all of the colonists had disappeared.

As late as 1902, Raleigh was seeking the missing group. Neither he nor the later settlers of Jamestown, Va., were able to find traces of the Roanoke Island fort were described in 1709, and in 1895 they were still faintly visible.

The present archeological excavations show the true location of the fort, Harrington said.

"When this work has been completed, it will bring out the 16th century character of the fort and definitely identify it as Fort Raleigh."

Volume Tells Hess' Offer on Secret Mission

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Rudolf Hess, deputy Nazi fuhrer who made his own secret mission to Britain during the war, told the Britons that the United States coveted the British empire.

Details of the conversation Hess held with the Duke of Hamilton after the Nazi had landed in an airplane in England in May, 1941, were contained in the final volume of an eight-volume series on Nazi aggression published by the war department and released tonight.

A transcript of the talks, in which Hess offered Britain a separate peace by guaranteeing Britain's empire possessions in return for unopposed German control in conquered Europe, contained these statements by Hess:

"Germany has no designs on America. The so-called German peril was a ludicrous figment of imagination. Hitler's interests were European."

"If we made peace now, America would be furious. America really wanted to inherit the British Empire."

Hess proposed England should have a completely free hand in the empire, with the sole reservation that Britain should return Germany's former colonies.

Rice Crisis Plagues China

SHANGHAI, May 10 (AP)—China's rice crisis continued riotously in Shanghai and spread to other cities today despite a double-barreled order from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek that municipal authorities protect shops and punish hoarders.

Rice, the main food of millions of Chinese, has risen to about 20 U. S. cents a pound, a 500 per cent increase in three months, while wages remain frozen at the January 31 level.

Shanghai police and soldiers from the Woosung garrison personally notified rice shops of the generalissimo's instructions and "requested" that they reopen, but the vast majority remained shuttered for the fourth consecutive day.

German Food Crisis Grows

BERLIN, May 10 (AP)—Responsible British officials expressed the fear today that a number of municipal administrations in large British zone cities were on the verge of a breakdown because German officials were unwilling to shoulder the responsibility for the food shortage.

Reports have reached Berlin from both Wuppertal and Brunswick that the city councils have announced withdrawal from their duties until there is a visible improvement in the food situation.

Nazi Bigwigs Found Guilty

NUERNBERG, Germany, May 10 (AP)—Two German field marshals and 10 generals were indicted before an American tribunal today as war criminals, charged with executing at least 13,000 persons in the Balkans and in Norway in retaliation for resistance attacks that killed 60 German soldiers.

Field Marshal Wilhelm List, commander of the 12th German army, and Field Marshal Maximilian von Weichs, chief of the Second army, were charged with setting up this yardstick for executing hostages in the Balkans.

For the death of one German soldier by resistance groups, 100 hostages; for the wounding of one German soldier, 50 hostages; for an act of sabotage, 10 hostages.

yes, it's Plymouth for Value

When you figure the facts, you realize how far Plymouth leads the low-priced field in the number of high-priced car features. The score—20 to 8 to 9— isn't even close!

Or, for another example, light-touch Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes with 32% more braking efficiency.

But Plymouth's greater value doesn't stop here. Plymouth has exclusive features that even many high-priced cars don't have.

Add all of Plymouth's basic engineering advances to Plymouth's beauty and smooth, unruffled ride and there's only one answer—if it's value you want, it's Plymouth you want!

Take, for example, Safety-Rim Wheels which give unequalled protection in case of tire failure.
