

Salem School Budget Ballot Slated June 16

(Story Also on Page 1)
Election business and personnel changes comprised the bulk of Salem school board's business Tuesday night. Voting on the portion of the 1947-48 budget levy in excess of the 6 per cent limitation was scheduled for June 16, the regular election date for directors. Additional polling places to serve the recently enlarged district, west Salem and somewhere along Lancaster road, east of the city, as well as in the school administration building.

Sanctions Contracts
The board sanctioned contracts for next year for new teachers, including Nita Sweat, Beatrice O'Bergh, Beulah Wilson, Mildred Braaten, Louise Erb Brooks, C. E. Milbrath, Angeline Self and Gloria Gebers.
Approval was granted a new junior high school athletic program, developed to include the new unit at West Salem, and arranged by Vernon Gilmore, boys' athletic supervisor, and junior high principals.
The board authorized calling of bids for installation of boilers and construction of the heating tunnel to Parriah school, for the new heating plant at the senior high.

Board to Judge Candidates for Job Service Post

Candidates for state employment service director will be interviewed by an oral rating board named by the state civil service commission at a meeting to be called next week.
The commission Wednesday announced selection for the rating body of Dean Victor P. Morris of the University of Oregon school of business, Safety-Supervisor Otto P. Hartwig of the Zellerbach Corp., and Ernest Cowden, former president of Nicolai-Neppach Co., Portland.
Silas Gaiser has been filling temporarily the employment director's position vacated by the recent resignation of L. C. Stoll. Several candidates took the civil service test for the job last week in Portland.

Over 100 Attend Rose Society Meet

More than 100 persons attended the Salem Rose society meeting at the YMCA Thursday night. Two talks were timed to the coming Salem rose show, June 7 and 8. Prof. John Milbrath of Oregon State college spoke on "Preparation of Roses for the Show," with an emphasis on grooming for winning, and Carl Starker, Portland, spoke on "Flower Arrangements."

30 Boy Scouts Advanced in Court of Honor

Thirty Salem area Boy Scouts were advanced in rank in formal ceremonies at the Cherry City court of honor Thursday night in Waller hall on the Willamette university campus.
Among the scores of merit badges presented, in addition to scout rank pins, were 56 earned by Hayesville troop 29 scouts, the largest number received in recent years by any one troop's representation at an honor court according to Scout Executive Lyle Leighton.
Hayesville honors also included a 100 per cent attendance ribbon and presentation of life scout and first class scout rank, respectively, to a father and son, George Strout and George, jr., the scoutmaster, also was a member of the court.
Troop 9 sponsored by Capital Post 9, American Legion, also won a perfect attendance award and Hollywood troop 3 won a streamer as inspection prize at the court of honor.
The awards made Thursday night included:
Bronze pin for Eagle badge—Glenn Kish, troop 8.
Life scout—George Strout, sr., troop 29; Donald Wyatt, Clayton Roth and Wayne Mutt, troop 14; Lloyd Hamlin, troop 3.
Star—Donald Case, troop 3; Robert Cooley, John Henning, David Cooley and George Christofferson, troop 20.
First class—Rudy Wellbrock, Richard Reitzenstein, George Strout, jr., troop 20; Bill Beard and Glenn Potter, troop 17; Thorvald Lovvold and Robert Scribner, troop 14; Jerry Boyer, troop 2.
Second class—Jerry Gillespie, Paul Hill, Rodney Weller, Larry Martin, troop 3; Don Pearl, Phil Washburn and Vernon Daniel, troop 16; Jim Dahlquist and Frank McGarvin, troop 14; Bob Clarke and Paul Mason, troop 12.

IBM to Open Salem Offices

The first Oregon office of International Business Machines outside of Portland will be opened at 156 S. Commercial in Salem shortly after June 1, it was announced Thursday by Leonard Thompson, branch manager.
Thompson, who comes here from Portland, will have a staff of at least nine persons, including A. O. Anderson who has arrived in Salem to be in charge of IBM mechanical service.
The Salem office is to include all three main departments of the firm—electric typewriters, time recorders and accounting systems. Its territory will extend from Marion county to the California line.
Thompson already has purchased a house in the Manbrin district of north Salem for his wife and three boys who will move here within a few weeks.

Scholarships in Psychology Given

Three Willamette university seniors, majoring in psychology, have been awarded scholarships in that department beginning in September.
Anne Elliott, Roseburg, has accepted a fellowship at Mills college, Oakland, Calif., and will work half time in the department while studying for her master's degree. Also working on her master's degree will be Verna Stocks, Portland, who has accepted a two-year resident counseling position at Washington State college.
John Cotton, Echo, Ore., will study and work at the University of Indiana on a research fellowship.

Humorous Note at Toastmasters Club

Eric Allen, Al Cramer, Elmer Amundson and Leon Cooney were speakers, headed by Joe Frange, toastmaster, at last night's Capitol Toastmasters' meeting at the Lions Den.
Each speaker characterized personalities including the "woman with the full purse," "a hunter shooting his first deer," "a lawyer before the jury," and a man "talking to himself."
Wayne Smith was "hot seat" speaker of the evening and "came through with flying colors," according to officials.

Camp White Issue Aired by League

Mrs. V. R. Freeman, president of the Eugene League of Women Voters, Thursday night explained pros and cons of the proposed state acquisition of Camp White for institutional use at a meeting of recently formed Salem League of Women Voters.
Mrs. Alden Bowes, temporary local president, Mrs. Hal DeSart, and Mrs. Gerald Brownhild discussed last week's state league convention in Medford and their visit to Camp White. Dr. Edna Landros of the University of Oregon, state league president, outlined organization of the voters' league.

Blind Persons Honored at Lions Lunch

Five of Salem's blind were honored Thursday by the Salem Lions club which presented them pocket braille writers—a new miniature version of the standard writing machine used by the blind to set down paper impressions readable by finger-touch.
Receiving the devices at the Lions luncheon meeting in the Marion hotel were Iva Mae Speed, Salem high school student; Frank Healy, Willamette university law senior; Glen Walker, familiar Salem post office magazine stand concessionaire; Effie Westensee and Ross Huckins, both of the faculty at the state school for the blind.
Chief Justice George Rossman of the state supreme court praised the courage and perseverance of the five for their development of abilities despite their affliction. The Rev. Dudley L. Thompson, chairman of the Lions club blind committee, presented the devices. At an earlier club program Frank Saunders of the blind school and Carlton Greider of the local employment office had received the first two braille writers to be awarded by the club.

Student Rotarian Likes Visiting Club, Missing Classes

"Passing out of the picture" for English class once a week was the fifth and evidently the most important reason why Bob Goffrier liked being high school Rotarian of the month as shown by his farewell to the club Wednesday while introducing his successor, Bob Wiper.
In thanking club members for the opportunity to meet with the club, Goffrier said he had liked being "Rotarian of the month" because: First, the fine food; second, the high-type speakers; third, the entertainment; fourth, the opportunity to meet so many

Hogan Pacing 'Worth' Open

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 15—(P)—Wee Ben Hogan withstood the pressure today to come romping in with a two-underpar 68 and leadership in the first round of the $15,000 colonial national invitation golf tournament. Favorite to repeat with the championship, Hogan, the diminutive Hershey, Pa. pro, laid down a two-under-par 33 in the first nine and 35 on the incoming nine of the 6,850-yard course. Lawson Little of Cleveland pulled in with second place, a stroke back of Hogan.
