

Linn Fat Lamb Show to Exhibit Wool, from Sheep to Sweater

By Lillie L. Madsen
Farm Editor, The Statesman

Wool on the sheep, in the fleece, in yarn, and in the knitted garment will be featured at the Linn County Fat Lamb and Wool show set for Scio, Saturday, May 31. It is believed that this is the only spring show in Oregon to feature wool from its source to the finished garment.

C. L. Donahue is general chairman of the event which will start at 9:30 a.m. with a parade open to entries from all counties. Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Shelton are co-chairmen of the parade in which there will be classes of pets and comics, clubs and lodges, children's clubs, commercial, bicycles, mounted saddle horses and shetland ponies.

The fat lamb classes are for adults, 4-H club members, and boys and girls under nine. Adult classes include single and long wool fat lambs, single medium wool fat lamb, and pen of three fat lambs. Classes for 4-H members include a showmanship contest, pen of three fat lambs, single fat lamb, and single bottle lamb. Boys and girls under nine may exhibit in the single bottle lamb class.

Fleece exhibits are for both adults and 4-H club members. Classes include medium and course fleeces. Knit, crocheted and woven exhibits include afghan, baby sets, women's sweaters, anklets, men's socks and argyle socks and anklets. Hazel Prague and Mrs. J. D. Densmore, jr., are co-chairmen of this division.

The trained sheep dog trials and the lamb show dance, conclude the day's events.

Working with Mr. Donahue as the show committee are Wilbur Funk, J. D. Densmore, sr., W. S. Sparks, W. P. Lund, N. John Hansen, R. L. Devaney and J. A. Nunn.
