Senators Win, 10-9, in 12 Innings; Vikings Smash H-River, Enter Finals SEATTLE, May 23 -(AP)— Six day for a record-shattering 65 and crews will churn up eight miles first round leadership in the Oregon concluded its spring foot-of Lake Washington water tomor- Philadelphia Inquirer tourney.

Beard Bingles Across Winner

Moral: Never leave until the bull game is over.

Most of a throng of 2,095 paid and a couple-hundred noisy "in free" kids departed from Waters park in the ninth inning last night as the town Senators were five runs in arrears of the Spokane Indians in their series opener, but those who left are today a surprised and sorry pack. For the Jack Wilsons up and tallied five times in the last of the ninth when all seemed hopeless, this splurge tying the score, and then in the twelfth frame rammed across another run to win the ding-dong struggle, 10 to 9!

The win, gained the hard way if ever one was, failed to hop the locals into fourth place in the WIL standings as Vancouver won also last night. But the Wilsons

Do Athletics Contribute Anything?

Every so often we hear from the skeptics who maintain that athletics in the schools ought to be done away with, just like that, These doubters berate competition on the field and vow that no youth has ever derived any material benefits from having participaied on the grid, diamond or maple court. Okay, Mr. Skeptics. we'll cite case No. 1 in the argument for athletics, and we don't believe your retort will be at all convincing. Ask the kids around town who got out of high school just before the draft grabbed everyone about Bob Boardman, Jr. "Great guy, great athlete," they'll say. His coaches, Harold Hauk and Vern Gilmore, etc., will boost Bob as having been a fine competitor.

Okay, the war came and Bob went into the Marines along with good many other local athletes. We heard what he did in that hellish Saipan campaign. Something about rescuing a wounded comrade under fire and suffering a bad throat wound himself. We talked to some ex-marines one day and they told how Bob's buddles. felt about him. "More guts than anybody they ever saw.". . . . .

Bob did a lot of thinking while sweating out time in the hospitals with that wound-and a lot of appraising. He decided to turn to the ministry, with the objective of entering the missionary field. It was the culmination of something that had been building up in Bob through the formative years-and having been the athlete he waswho can dare say athletics in themselves didn't add vtial quality

Hauk Nine vs. Jeffs For State Title Today

By Al Lightner LUCKY BEAVER STADIUM. Portland, May 23-(Special)-Salem high's Vikings, still the hottest nine in the state prep baseball tournament, today bombarded Hood River from the meet with a 17 to 0 victory and will towith a 17 to 0 victory and will to-morrow afternoon play defending champion Jefferson of Portland for the 1947 title. Jefferson eliminated Eugene today, 6-4. Tomorrow's payoff game will follow a 1:30 p. m. clash between Amity and Hubbard, finalists in the Singles, 'Caps Class B section after winning their opening games today. Amity Slated Today downed Parksdale by a 9-2 count and Hubbard dumped Rogue River by a 5-3 score.

Righthander Bud Craig, Salem's No. 2 flinger all season, stepped up today and turned back the Blue Dragons with two hits, both singles. He also did some tall stepping at the plate in bashing out a perfect 4-for-4 to lead the 12-hit Viking attack. For tomorrow's final Coach Harold Hauk has nominated Tall Rod Province to face the Portland champs. Province hurled a 3-hit opening round win over Central vie for honors in the Preliminary Catholic Thursday. So devastating was the combi-
