Miss Betty Staab a Bride

Blonde Betty Staab became Mrs. Edward T. Porter at a pretty June wedding Saturday night at the First Presbyterian church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Staab and the benedict is the son of Mrs. William T. Porter.

The vows were exchanged at 8 o'clock with Dr. Chester W. Hamblin officiating before a background of calla lilies and candles. The aisle was marked with tall white tapered wrought iron candelabras tied with calla lilies. Miss Patricia Viecko and Miss Kathleen Hug lighted the candles and wore pastel orchid dresses. Miss Edith Fairham sang and Mrs. Ralph Dobbs was at the organ.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, selected a handsome white satin gown designed on classic lines for her wedding. The low waistline was scalloped and the full skirt ended in a court train. The fitted bodice was made with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. Her train length tulle veil was edged in lace and fell from a coronet of lace. She carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid.

Preceding the bride to the altar were Miss Mary Ann Bollinger and Miss Evangeline McKinlay, as bridesmaids and Miss Barbara Jean Crawford, the maid of honor. The girls wore moon blue marquisette dresses with full skirts. The gowns of the attendants had three-quarter length sleeves and V necklines, while the maid of honor's dress was made with long sleeves and a round neckline. They carried fan shaped bouquets of pink and white sweetpeas, bouvardia and maine and wore halos of the same flowers in their hair.

Attend the Groom
Dale Gordon stood with the groom as best man and seating the guests were David Putnam, Clarence Conrad, Allan Voigt and Verne Scott.

Mrs. Staab wore a navy blue ensemble with navy straw hat with white trim and accessories for her daughter's nuptials. Mrs. Porter chose a grey dress with violet hat, black accessories and white gloves. Each wore a lavender orchid pinned to her gown.

The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors. Joan Beakey passed the guest book. Mrs. Jack Frohman cut the bride's cake and Mrs. Glen Slentz presided at the urns. Assisting were Misses Patricia Rush, Catherine Richardson, Patricia Sterns, Vivienne Hermanon, Suzanne Boszorth and Florence Hoover, all classmates of the bride at the University of Oregon Medical School of Nursing.

The couple will go to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., on their honeymoon and for traveling the bride chose a deep apricot suit with white straw hat and accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. Mr. Porter and his bride will reside in Portland at 3424 S. W. Veterans Road. Mr. Porter is a chemical engineer for Standard Oil Co. and his bride will continue with her nurses training.

Seen and Heard...

By Iaryme English

JUNE... that traditional bridal month... has already reached a high tempo... more brides than ever, which means Lohengrins wedding march will be played over and over in the next few weeks... Orange blossoms, orchids, gardenias, roses... white satin, rare old lace and tulle... the biggest and the most important part of the month...

From the first day of June to the last the weddings, pre-nuptial parties, showers, trousseau shopping, and last minute wedding preparations all maintain a tempo that is hard to believe... Double excitement for several of the brides-to-be and grooms-elect as it is graduation month... To date we have over forty weddings slated for Salem (with many more to come), not to mention the out-of-town and valley ceremonies...

According to the last count... Dr. Chester Hamblin and the Rev. Seth Huntington each have seven marriages to perform... and the popular soloist is blonde Edith Fairham, who has fifteen on her calendar...

A BIRTHDAY PARTY... One of the largest of the season on Thursday which honored James Linn on his 80th birthday... Several hundred calling... many greetings and much reminiscing among the many out-of-town folk here for the occasion... When the weather man turned off his sunny smiles the Linnns had to change their party to the Marion hotel...

Change bouquets of roses on the serving tables in the Mirror Room... In the center the birthday table... Several home-made cakes served from old fashioned cake plates... very colorful with pastel icings... A punch table... and small tables for guests to chat around... The climax when a group of Mr. Linn's friends presented a handsome desk...

Among those present... From far away came Albert Magnus and Miss Sally May of Chicago... intimate friends of the Linnns... They will be here a week at the Linn home... A group of former governors talking it over... Ben Olcott and Oswald West, of Portland... Walter Pierce and Charles A. Sprague... Two who poured... Mrs. Alexander Collins in navy and wearing one of the prettiest hats we've seen... a flowered chapeau in shades of pastel pink and blue... and Mrs. Otto Metschan in a becoming luggage silk jersey print... both from Portland... The Lowell Kerns and the Lawrence Hofers of Oswego greeting old friends...

First visit to Salem for the Ralph Watsons since legislature. Others noted... A beautiful orchid pinned to Mrs. Taylor Hawkins' turquoise blue silk dress... Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry stunning in a pearl grey silk dress with stitched skirt and large black hat with pink veiling... Mrs. Hollis Huntington in a navy blue ensemble with large carnation green flower pinned at the shoulder and a navy straw picture hat... Petite Mrs. James B. Young in all black and large black straw hat, the crown edged in white... and Mrs. Conrad Paulus striking in a gay silk print with long sleeves and a black lace cartwheel hat... The Keith Powells being welcomed home from their trip east... The Henry Cornoyers... she in black with a touch of white... and Mrs. Homer Goulet, sr. in black with a white and black check box jacket and black straw... A grand party and the collation something to talk about...

Dr. and Mrs. A. Terrence King are home from a six weeks stay in Chicago... Laneta took along her typewriter just in case... and she took three courses at the University of Chicago... spending the first few weeks catching up as the classes had started several months ago... but she enjoyed every minute of it, especially "short stories."

PERSIAN NIGHT... theme of the Junior-Senior prom at the high school Friday night... Draped curtains on the walls with rose lights... a false ceiling silhouetted with a Persian city and stars...
