Highway Sketches

This view in Rocky Mountain National Park is one of the full-color scenic views offered to you without charge wherever you stop for Chevron Supreme

I climbed a thousand feet from Bear Lake to this mountain pool cupped in the Rockies. It was worth the hike, for Dream Lake is a good example of the spectacular spots hidden in Rocky Mountain National Park. If you like scenery, fill up with Chevron Supreme Gasoline and head for Colorado

Between this ghost town and Colorado National Monument, I drove some mighty high highways. But high-octane Chevron Supreme always pulled us through without pings or vapor lock.

Sketched Great Salt Lake at twilight while getting an RPM Lubrication job and Chevron Supreme. Wherever I drove, I found Chevron Supreme premium gasoline "climate-tailored" to fit local driving conditions and bring out my car's smoothest performance.
