Solons Hit Sudden Slump, Drop Pair To Vancouver, Skid Back to 3rd Spot

Skeber's Homer Only Run in 6-0, 2-1 Losses; Second Twin Tonight

The big baseball buggaboo - - bad night - - sneaked up on the townies at Waters park last night and (1) wrecked all they had built up in the previous Yakima and Bremerton series, (2) dealt a low blow to their sparkling home park record, (3) ruined one other record for the yard and (4) startled as well as disappointed a glum gathering of 2041 paid. In other words, the Senators dropped the double bill with Bill Brenner's Vancouvers, 6 to 0 and 2 to 1, scoring but one run in both games. That one was a home run by Joe Skeber in the second tilt. The double defeat marked the first time this semester the Salems have dropped a twin bill at home. It also cost the Wilsons their freshly won second rung in the WIL derby, as Bremerton downed Yakima twice and hopped over the Salems. The single conthe WIL derby, as Bremerton solation found in the dismal evening is that Spokane lost to Tacoma last night. So this morning the Spokes are still in front by a game over Bremerton, and Salem is half a tilt in arrears of the Tars.

Two more games in the six-inthree-nights series in on the menu tonight, starting at seven o'clock. Lefty Wandell Mossor will be one of Mgr. Wilson's choices and the skipper himself is apt to toe the slap in the other. Brenner will have whizzballer Bob Hall and Ronnie Bryant or Jim Hedgecock cranked up for the Caps.

If erstwhile Senator Gunnarson was in a vengeful mood in last night's opener, he's a happy gent today. For Carl elbowed up the 6-8 score and shut the door on the Salems with two hits, both singles. His mates fielded like at Spokane as 8000 persons honchampions instead of second di- ored the Indians veteran outfieldvisioners behind him, and his vic- er. Dick did beautifully for five a new car. heats, but in the sixth the Caps shelled him for six of their eight in all came over and Gunnarson himself started the mess by tripling to left-center. Six runs or sixty off Sinovic made no difference, for he wasn't to get any help in the run department from his suddenly punchless mates.

Gunnarson was all primed to zen Pete' Jonas at our side. And Peter hasn't changed a bit, so far as Salem teams are concerned. The Bremerton Bluejackets climbed over the Salem Senators into second place in the Western International league standings last night by virtue of a double win over the Yakima Stars, 9-3 and 8-4. The result places the Brems one game back of the Spokane Indians who dropped a 4-3 fracas to Tacoma's Tigers. Victoria and Wenatchee split a twin-bill, the Chiefs grabbing the opener, 4-2 and the Athletics coming back to nab the nightcap, 7-4.

Dairy Junior A leaguers Wednesday night came just about as close as anyone could to a no-hitter. He had one man to go in the seventh and last inning against the hitherto unbeaten Mayflowers and what did that guy do but get a clean base hit. And ironically enough the lad who ruined Coursey's hopes was his pitching rival, Jim Rock . . . Inevitable: We knew Hank Singer wouldn't be able to stay away from that softball hurler's mound. Hank vowed at the beginning of the campaign that chucking was for the other and more youthful gents from now on. But lo and behold, there was that familiar battery: H. Singer and L. Singer under the Papermakers' line score the other evening. 'Course 'Maker Pilot Bob Schwartz might have figured that Veteran Hank would be just the lad to break his club into the win column for the first time, after some of the younger twirlers had failed to accomplish the job. Hank didn't win his first outing, but he'll come through sooner or later . . . Dressed up: Capitol Alleys is all spic-and-spanned for the coming of the fall pin madness. Among the improvements are entirely resurfaced alleys and—guess what—none other than a set of the most satisfactory scoreboards out. Those boards, you know, are the type whereby the image of the score sheet is magnified and thrown on a large screen. Among other things this type eliminates wrenched necks, elbows between the shoulder blades and eye strain which too often occurred when half dozen guys ganged around the old - style tally board. And the modern ones'll keep the scorekeeper in much better mood, too . . . Renewed rivalry: Might be when Eugene sends a softball representative Here tonight to take on a local club in the inaugural tilt of the Willamette Valley softball association's schedule. Ten against one that you'll find some former Salem high Vikings and Eugene Axemen among the combatants. And that always adds up to some real scrimmaging . . .

Getting Technical

Did you ever wonder just why a golf ball has those round grooves dotting its surface. It's a good bet the average linkster would shrug his shoulders and give with a bewildered, "I dunno."

In fact a lot of guys not too thoroughly versed in matters of zerodynamics have muttered that they could get 75 yards more on their drives if the ding-busted ball were perfectly SMOOTH. For after all doesn't streamlining cut down wind resistance? Sure it does in the case of that latest four-door job. BUT, according to the well-ground-ed guys who manufacture these tantalizing globules which drive a good section of the population plain nuts, it just isn't the case with their product. Getting down to tacks, try and drive a smooth-surfaced pill with your favorite wood and what happens? Why, that infantile sphere will soom fine for say 60 yards, then whoosh—just like a Stuka dive bomber she'll head for old mother earth. Why? We couldn't tell you since we're not expert in aero-dyn—well, heck, mistuh, that's what the experts say so let it go at that . . . Torchy Torgeson they're calling Snohomish. Washington's, gift to Boston Braves. The name was hooked on to Torgy as top choice in a nick-name contest for the Brave's first-sacker. How come that handle?? "He's the torch leading Beard the Braves to a new era in Boston baseball history," was the reason. That seems to be putting Mr. Torgeson on the well-known spot. And then, after all, what was wrong with "Torgy" . . . He's gone and done it. Yes, Jackie Robinson has truly made the Major league on merit (with his .306 batting average and position as the National loop's top base-stealer). Considering the formidable obstacles that blocked his path, the precedent he was forced to set, Jackie has come through Heath, Browns, 20: Gordon, Indians 16. Mine, Giants, 29: Kiner, Pirates, 25: Marshall, Giants, 25. magnificently. AND the players respect 'im, treat the colored lad like Wyatt one of 'em . . .
