

Camp Pioneer Attendance Shows Rise

Attendance prospects at Boy Scout Camp Pioneer show an increase of nearly 20 per cent over last year, according to the Salem scout office Wednesday.

Campers during fourth-session camp totaled 81 and nearly 80 are expected for the final session beginning next week. More boy scouts have camped at Pioneer during the first four sessions this year than during the five in 1946, the office said.

Troops now represented at the camp are Gervais troop 54; Salem troop 4; Woodburn troop 53; Independence troop 27; Albany troop 100; Stanley Mello, leader; Buena Vista troop 73, Harry Lawson and Harry Anderson, leaders; Salem troop 3 and Hayes 1; troop 20, George Christoffersen and Kenneth Murphy, leaders.

Fifty-two merit badges have been earned at the camp during the present session, the largest number to date. Two scouts, Richard Zeller, troop 1, Salem and Conrad Hamman, troop 27, Independence, were presented star rank during the past week.

Entertainment at Saturday night's campfire included presentation of 180 watermelons to the campers by Tyrone Gillespie and Delbert Jensen, both of Salem and former camp leaders in Montana.
