

Seen and Heard...

By Jeryme English

THE SHOW GOES ON . . . In spite of the downpour a week ago seven teen agers put on their rodeo (which we understand had taken weeks of planning) at the William Lidbeck country place on Battle Creek road. . . The performers were Nancy and Jean Lidbeck, Anne Woodmansee, Jean Smith, Marcia Webb, Barbara McMullen and Carolyn Wachter.

Over seventy spectators, young and old, stood right out in the rain to watch. . . The judges, Gertrude Chamberlain and Helen Marcus, stood in the rain for over two hours judging the various events. . . A grand parade opening the show. . . Blue and red ribbons to the winners.

Master of ceremonies . . . Jane Barlow, who announced the events. . . Stephanie Page, the ribbon girl. . . Toni Tucker holding the umbrellas over the judges, and Jean Ann Tupker selling candy. . . The girls thought of everything . . . even to a "very small" admission charge. . . At intermission Anne Woodmansee did stunt riding on "Duke," even to rope jumping. . . "Sheila," four months old filly of the Lidbecks, made her appearance dressed as a cow boy. . . Climax of the day when the horses stirred up a nest of bees in the field and were stung. . . no one really thrown, but certainly a few exciting minutes wondering if someone would be. . .

MOVING NOTES . . . The Charles Huggins family has been busy the past fortnight getting settled in their newly purchased beach home at Neskowin, located on the south point. . .

The Wendell Webbs have sold their South High street home and in the fall hope to move into their new home, now being built in the Morningside district. . . They are storing their furniture in the barn and in the meantime the family will be "at home" at Lincoln beach, where they have taken the John Hall cottage for a month.

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Waters and their girls are looking forward to moving to their new home, just completed, and also located in the Morningside district. . . Jim Payne, the architect, built it for his family, but later decided to sell. . . The Waters already had property adjoining the newly purchased site. . .

The Willard Thompsons are busy studying blueprints for their new home, which they soon hope to start building on view property in Orchard Heights. . .

New address. . . Clever post cards received from Melvin and Martha Hurley this week from Boston telling their new address. . . In one corner a picture of a bird house and little bird bearing the sign "for rent", and printed in large letters "Yes, we found a house at 152 Startford st., West Rosbury, Mass., a Boston suburb . . . and signed Martha and Mel."

SEEING THE SIGHTS . . . are Jane Walsh and Katherine Wilhelm of Eugene, spending the summer in New York. . . The past weekend they were in Washington, D. C. On Saturday they were present at the opening of the Lincoln papers to the public. . . later viewing them. . . They also visited the senate, staying until adjournment at 4 a.m. . . The girls had lunch with Jane Ellsworth, daughter of Congressman Harris Ellsworth. . . Jane Walsh has a job in one of the Loft candy shops on Times Square until fall.

FOR A BRIDE . . . Mrs. Walter Spaulding entertained with an at home Tuesday night for Anne Marie Doerfler, who changes her name to Mrs. P. Wayne Rose this afternoon. . . The honor guest, in a pale yellow frock with lace inserts. . . The hostess in water-fall blue jersey and white flowers. . . A pink heart above the archway between the living and dining rooms. . . The bride's table centered with two hearts made of pink lace paper and filled with pink baby begonias and sweet peas. . . the corners of the white cloth caught with silver bells and white gladiolus blossoms with sweet peas tucked in the centers. . .

Among those present . . . Hazel Shutt, wearing a pretty draped print silk on a white background . . . and telling us about Hattie Bratzel's exciting weekend trips while in Germany. . . She hopes to bring home an Italian car with her in the fall. . . Mrs. Hillary Etzel, also serving and wearing a watermelon red silk jersey with tiered skirt, a striking contrast to her brunette beauty. . . Noted Mrs. Daniel J. Fry's pretty round corsage of geranium blossoms and leaves and phlox pinned at the neckline of her black gown. . . Mrs. P. H. Schnell's brown faille suit and open crown brown felt halo with chiffon drape, reminding us that fall is just around the corner. . . Mrs. C. W. Parker, still receiving congratulations about her twin granddaughters, and wearing a becoming red lacey straw wide brimmed hat with her dark ensemble.

As revelr. . . All for now, but we'll be back again at state fair time.

Nuptials in Portland

A number of Salem people were in Portland Saturday afternoon for the marriage of George William Otten, formerly of Salem, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Otten, to Miss Mary Ellen McCurdy. The nuptials took place at Trinity Episcopal chapel at 4 o'clock with the Rev. George H. Swift of Salem officiating.

John Patterson McCurdy gave the bride in marriage. For her wedding she chose a white satin gown fashioned with train, long sleeves and pearl trim. She wore the rose point lace veil which the groom's aunt, Mrs. William C. Ralston, wore at her wedding. She carried white roses, stephanotis and orchids.

Miss Phyllis McCurdy was the maid of honor and wore a pink sharkskin dress and Mrs. M. Eugene Reed (Patricia Otten), sister of the groom, was matron of honor, wearing a blue sharkskin gown. They had matching tulle picture hats and gloves and carried contrasting bouquets of pink and blue sweet peas. Joan McCurdy was flower girl for her aunt.

Edward Mything, formerly of Salem, was best man and ushers were David Veblen, Richard Ralston and M. Eugene Reed.

For her son's nuptials Mrs. Otten chose a grey satin suit with orchid corsage. The wedding reception was held at the home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ralston. Presiding at the bride's table and cutting the cake were Mesdames Albert G. Dennison of Eugene, Robert A. and John P. McCurdy, H. S. Granatt, W. R. Kaser of Seattle, William C. L. O. and Lonner O. Ralston, Jr. Assisting were the Misses Patricia Vandenevnde, Salem, Anne Walker, Eleanor Nagel, Sally Ralston, Mrs. Patrick F. O'Brien and Mrs. David Veblen.

When the newlyweds left on their honeymoon to southern Oregon the bride was wearing a grey suit with black accessories and corsage of orchids. Mr. Otten and his bride will make their home in Portland. Both attended the University of Oregon where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta and he of Phi Gamma Delta.
