

Wool Market Better During Past 2 Weeks

By Lillie L. Madsen Farm Editor, The Statesman
The wool market has picked up somewhat during the past two weeks, with improvements made especially in the finer grades of wool.

One of Salem's major business-district improvements this year is the remodeling of the Schlessinger store, 409 Court st., which re-opened last week with enlarged windows, modernistic trim in marble, as well as a complete interior modernization and addition of departments in new settings.

It is estimated that if all the aluminum in the United States were divided equally between U.S. families, each would have about 125 pounds.

There was a reduction of 10 per cent in the number ewes in the western states and six per cent in the sheep states eastward. This is the smallest lamb crop since 1925, nearly 26 per cent under the 1936-45 average. The western lamb crop was 11 per cent below last year and 25 per cent below average. Oregon's lamb crop was 8 per cent below 1946 and 44 per cent below average.

W. A. Jones, Salem, local representative of the Pacific Wool Growers, which played a large part in obtaining the passage of the wool legislation provides that the average price to be paid to wool producers be in line with the 1946 support price which was slightly more than 42 cents a pound grease basis. As of July 15 this year, the national average price being received by growers was 39.2 cents.

Profit-Taking Drops Gains

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—An early upturn in corn ran into increased profit-taking on the board of trade today and prices retreated to close the day with losses.

Corn set the pace for the rest of the market, as it has in all sessions for recent weeks, although wheat showed resistance to the late selling and finished with prices practically unchanged. At one time July wheat and December oats reached new seasonal highs.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 lower, September $2.34 1/2, corn was 2 1/4 to 4 cents lower, September $2.31 1/4-2.33, and oats were 1-1/2 to 1 3/4 lower, September $1.04 1/2-3 1/4.

Wheat was aided by a somewhat more aggressive commodity credit corporation buying policy and Washington reports that exports will be heavy this autumn, possibly exceeding allocations. The CCC raised its wheat buying price 3 cents after the close yesterday, offering $2.29 at Kansas City and $2.40 1/4 a bushel at Chicago.
