

Follies Troupe For State Fair Due This Week

Helene Hughes and her troupe of performers will arrive in Salem late this week from San Francisco and will begin immediate rehearsals of the Oregon State Fair Follies of 1947, to be presented here nightly during fair week.

Miss Hughes will bring north a group of 60, including her own wardrobe and musical aides. Buddy Rich and his 17-man orchestra, who will play supporting music for the follies, will arrive in Salem next Sunday after an engagement at the Edgewater Beach hotel in San Francisco.

The Follies, which will include all of the music of the movie "State Fair", will be staged on the large movable set in front of the racing grandstand. Pansy Sanborn, musical comedian, will headline the show along with the Lipham Four, a quartet of acrobatic youngsters who will be making their first Pacific Northwest appearance after three years of stardom with Ken Murray's "Blackouts".

Other features will be Pat Patterson, puppeteer, and Russ Byrd, network radio singer and master of ceremonies from Hollywood. The whole cast will be supported by the dancing of the Helene Hughes Precision dancers.
