

Books to Tell Ballot Issues

Distribution of pamphlets outlining issues in the special election October 7—the proposed 3 percent sales tax referred by the legislature and the two-cent-a-package cigarette tax under referendum—is under way by the state department.

ments were a legislative committee, Old Age beneficiaries, Inc., and Oregon sales tax committee. The latter committee filed two arguments for publication in the pamphlet.

The negative arguments were filed by the Oregon state grange, legislative committee, and Oregon State Federation of labor.

Only argument in connection with the cigarette tax bill, stressing alleged merits of the proposed referendum, was filed by the Oregon tobacco wholesalers.

What to Do With Elderly Chickens In Bulletin: Various Recipes Given

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

I received a bulletin from the government which tells about some of the uses to which elderly hens (the poultry variety) might be put. The experts have other ways to prepare her for good eating.

The old hen might simulate her younger sister and appear as fried chicken, first requiring a bit of pre-cooking. Cut in pieces and simmer slowly until tender. Dip in a thin batter or in egg and crumbs and fry golden brown. There will be found to be plenty of meat on the bones, so the hen will serve a generous number of diners. The broth in which cooked can be used for gravy.

Chicken pie is an excellent way to use up the chicken. Combine cooked chicken with gravy and vegetables, when bubbling over the fire, top with biscuits or pastry or mashed potatoes. You may use chicken fat for shortening in the pastry.

Old hens can appear in casseroles with vegetables, shortcake combined with cornbread or biscuits, jellied with stock, loaf or soufflé. For the loaf, use bread crumbs, moisten with stock and season to taste, adding almonds and ripe olives if desired. Bake and then chill for summertime fare.

Here's a chicken souffle recipe:

CHICKEN SOUFFLE
2 cups finely chopped cooked chicken
1/2 cup bread crumbs
2 teaspoons chicken fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon parsley
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk.

Make white sauce of fat, flour and liquid, season and add crumbs. Then add egg yolks, well beaten, and let sauce cool slightly. Fold in chicken and stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a slow oven 325 degrees, around an hour until set. Serve with cream sauce, chicken gravy or mushroom sauce.

Lillie Assures Lively Brand Of WU Ball

"Three line bucks and a punt that's out!" declared Willamette university's new athletic director and head football coach, Jerry Lillie, Thursday noon in talk before Salem Lions club at the Marion hotel.

Lillie promised a brand of football that mixes up plays and makes use of occasional "gambles" in his preview of this year's Willamette football season. The coach said also he believed in short, lively practice sessions and that the public is welcome to all local football drills.

Mary Ellen Stadler will have charge of the booth, assisted by Mrs. Anna Arnold and other volunteer workers.

J. S. Landers, Ex-President of OCE, Dies at 84

MONMOUTH—Joseph Samuel Landers, 84, president of Oregon College of Education from 1932 to 1938 and recently professor emeritus at the college, died here Thursday after an illness of several months.

Landers was born at Van Burenburg, Ill., Jan. 3, 1863, the son of John W. and Ruth Jane Hill Landers. In 1917 he received his bachelor of arts degree and in 1918 his master's degree from the University of Colorado, after attending Northern Indiana Normal school and receiving his bachelor of science degree from Valparaiso university in 1887.

He belonged to Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Gamma Mu, Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities and organizations while in college.

Landers began his career as a school teacher in Illinois and was connected with education work in Illinois, Oregon and at the University of New Mexico prior to taking his position as president of the Oregon College of Education.

He was the author of many pamphlets on education subjects and prominent as a speaker and leader in civic and education organizations.

He was a member of the Congregational church and held memberships in the Oregon State Teachers association, of which he was twice president, and in the Inland Empire Teachers' association and National Education association.

Survivors are the widow, to whom he was married at The Dalles, June 2, 1904; a sister, Mrs. Anna Wright of Greenville, Ill., and a brother, John H. Landers of Modesto, Calif.

Funeral services will be held at the Smith chapel, Monmouth, Friday at 2 p. m. with interment in Monmouth cemetery.

KOAC to Broadcast Fair Twice Daily

The state-owned radio station, KOAC, will present the story of the 1947 Oregon state fair in two daily broadcasts, at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m., during fair week beginning Monday, James M. Morris, program manager for the station, has announced.

The broadcasts will originate from KOAC's studio in the administration building with direct pickups from the livestock, poultry and 4-H buildings, as well as recordings of other events.

Scouts' Paper Pickup Slated

The Cascade area scout office announced Thursday that another waste paper collection will be conducted by local Boy Scouts on the afternoon of September 28 throughout the city.

The scout office said that this drive is to take care of the accumulation of waste paper during the summer. The proceeds will be used for the maintenance of Camp Pioneer and for the improvement of two or three weekend camp sites in the vicinity of Salem. These sites are to be used by the several scout troops for short-term outings and the improvements to them will include sanitary facilities, water supply and necessary fencing.

Salem residents are invited by the scouts to save papers and magazines for the pickup, to be conducted by Ralph Johnson, civic service chairman, and Gardner Knapp, council camp chairman.
