less open aspirants for the nomination there is budding an organization in behalf of General Dwight Eisenhower. It stems from the sunflower state of Kansas and is said to have as coach the potent Roy A. Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star (who was one of the sponsors of Alf Landon's candidacy in 1936). Eisenhower has firmly rejected political overtures, in not a registered voter or identified with any party. But he leaves the army next January to become president of Columbia university; and his supporters argue that move will make him eligible "as r civilian" for political preferment. If Eisenhower is of the same mind as General William T. Sherman he will have to make a declaration about as positive as Sherman's to wet down this Kansas prairie fire.
