Saturday's Nuptials . . .

Miss Lorraine Macklin and C. Forrest Smith exchanged marriage vows at a ceremony at the Roberts' studio Saturday night at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Brooks Moore officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Macklin and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith.

Miss Helen Doris Friesen sang and Professor T. S. Roberts played the organ music. Lighting the tapers were Mrs. Robert Lippis and Mrs. Howard Branch, who wore white net frocks over taffeta bodices. The improvised altar was banked with white gladioluses and candles.

Of white slipper satin was the bridal gown designed with a fitted bodice pointed in front at the waistline, long sleeves and a full train. The neckline was high and round and fashioned with a marquise yoke edged in lace. Her fingertip length veil was caught to a lace head-dress and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Macklin gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Ted Kightlinger was the bride's honor attendant and wore a yellow nylon net dress and carried a colonial nosegay. Robert Lippis was best man and ushers were Carl Arndt and Lawrence Macklin.

Mrs. Macklin wore a royal blue gown for the nuptials and Mrs. Smith chose a black ensemble. Their corsages were of pink roses.

The wedding reception was held at the Macklin home. Mrs. Thomas Schweigert cut the bride's cake and Mrs. Carl Arndt presided at the coffee urn. Mrs. Lawrence Macklin assisted in the dining room.

When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride donned a black suit with white accessories and black hat with white trim. Pinned to her suit was an orchid. The newlyweds will live in Salem where he is with the state highway department.
