(A)-The union employers section of the printing industry of America voted unanimously Tuesday to insist upon full compliance with the Taft-Hartley law in negotiations with the International Typographical union (AFL).

After discussing the operations of the law and its probable ef- ican investors. fects on the industry the group adopted a resolution which said in part:

"Whereas the International Typographical union has announced a policy of 'no contracts" in future negotiations, and

"Whereas this no-contract policy is in our opinion a violation of both the spirit and the letter of the labor - management rela-tions act * * *

stering, 391 advanced and 266 THE PENN - The solid burghers of many of our early American towns chose brick for their homes because of its strength and durability. Thousands of these early homes are today still worthily fulfilling their function, permanent testimony to the shrewdress of their builders.

The Penn, pictured here, is a fine example, in perfect architectural taste, of the brick bungalow of the twentieth century. Although its appearance is that of a small house, ample space is provided in the plan to include a good sized living room, two bedrooms with good cross ventilation, a bathroom and a kitchen large enough to incorporate a dining nook.

Sturdy dependability is not the only quality of brick. In addition to this desirable characteristic, it 11/4 at 28%, International Har- combines beauty and charm in its varied mellow colors, delightful textures and simple ornamental de-

The Penn, like all the brick houses of our series carries the seal of approval of the Structural Clay Ohio 3 at 4534 and New York Products Institute, conforms to the standards and construction requirements of the Federal Housing Administration, and its wiring and electric installation complies with the efficiency and safety standards of the National Adequate Wiring Bureau.
