

FBI Holding Taxi Driver Theft Suspect

A suspect in the $37 armed robbery of a Salem taxicab driver near Four Corners last June 2, will soon be on his way to Salem for investigation by Salem police, local authorities were informed Thursday.

Armond Muller, who was said to have been implicated in the robbery of Jack Brennan, 234 S. Winter st. by a man who is now an inmate of a federal prison, was arrested by the FBI in Olympia, Wash., recently. According to information received here by city police Thursday, Muller is being held in Thurston county jail.

Held in lieu of $3,500 bail, Muller was arrested on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Local authorities are advised by the FBI that he will be returned to Salem. Muller has waived extradition proceedings, the FBI message said. According to police reports, Brennan picked up two men at the east end of State street on the night of June 2. The pair immediately drew pistols, took over the taxi and driving east on Macleay road forced him out of the vehicle at Ricker school. The cab was found next day abandoned on Wisconsin court near a dead end street. Brennan is employed by Capitol Cab Co.

Advice to former owners of land now occupied by the Salem farm labor camp to claim such land, except where buildings are in use, was offered Thursday following receipt by Roy R. Hewitt, attorney representing some of the landowners, of a letter from the war assets administration that it would dispose of excess lands to the former landowners.

Hewitt wrote the Marion county court, which has purchased the former army air base from the WAA, that "it would seem that the timber land and farm land should now be available" and that the remainder, site of the buildings, be offered to its former owners if the camp project is abandoned.

Officers of Salem Agricultural Housing, Inc., which is to operate the area as a labor camp, have reportedly discussed the possibility of returning unneeded land to pre-war owners, but no action is expected until the area is conveyed from the county to the corporation.

The WAA letter, from C. T. Mudge, Portland regional director, said county disposition would be expected "when and as cur-

400 See WU Team Leave For Stockton

Some 400 cheering, singing collegians serpented the Southern Pacific railroad station and nearby by Salem streets Thursday night in a rousing sendoff for Bearcat footballers who were leaving by train for their opening football game at Stockton, Cal.

Athletic Director Jerry Lillie and his coaches promised their squad would do "real battle" in the first Willamette encounter of a college of Pacific eleven, but refrained from further prediction.

Team members will leave the train at Davis and take special buses to Stockton, arriving at 1 p. m. today. Game time is 8 o'clock tonight.

After the year's first football rally, the Willamette students returned to the campus where leaders were making plans for a return-home "win or lose" reception for the football team this weekend.
