FARLOW RELEASED
Everett Delbert Farlow, 620 D st., who has pleaded innocent to a charge of participating in a riot and for whom trial has not yet been scheduled, was released on his own recognizance Thursday from Marion county jail by District Judge Joseph B. Felton. He has been in the jail since his release Monday from Salem Deaconess hospital, where he was treated for three gunshot wounds allegedly received in a shooting fray early this month at a Brown's island hoppyard. Two other men involved were found guilty on similar charges last week.

Observations
Bring Out Contradictions

Editor's note: Mrs. James T. Brand, wife of the Oregon supreme court justice who currently is presiding over a military tribunal in Germany, has been taking several trips through central Europe, in the following she recounts some impressions.

NUERNBERG, Germany—(Special to The Statesman)—I do not say that the following are universally true—merely that I've learned by observation that:

The Danube is not blue.

German cleanliness and efficiency have been overrated.

A universal language is developing to which Italy contributed "Privia," France "beaucoup," Germany "Kaput" and America "O. K."

A moving van in Holland bears this sign: "Nordwyck to Amsterdam and vice-versa."

A motorcycle can be propelled by a wood-burning engine. The stove is a No. 10 tomato can. The fuel, pieces of wood the size of cigars.

Hair-combing by Braille
The pleasure of seeing what I can see is being poisoned by the grief of missing what I can't.

The seasoned traveler combs her hair by the Braille method.

Wild morning glory grows in the rose gardens over here, too.

Some European universities have beautiful campuses, notably Erlangen; many have no campuses at all, notably Heidelberg.

It was a thrill to see the barracks at Bastogne, from which General McAuliffe sent his famous one-word message.

"Brand" seems to be an international family name. With us, it's Scotch. I've seen it in Germany, Holland, Czechoslovakia,

Belgium, Switzerland and Luxemburg.

Files Favorites
The German (servant class, at least) take no stock in the germ theory. They LIKE files.

The universal European vehicle is the bicycle; one man can carry a bag of food, a bundle of wood and two children on one two-wheeler! Nuns and priests ride about on them, on their errands of mercy.

It would be wise to quit knocking communism and to counteract it by showing the world that democracy works.

Bavaria is the land of sweet sights and sour smells.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED
Twelfth Street Food market, located at 1396 S. 12th st., was granted permission by the city building inspector's office Thursday to erect a grocery store at a cost of $50.
