

Brides-elect Set Nuptial Dates

Wedding bells will ring on Sunday, October 26, for Miss Geneva Brown, daughter of Emory Brown of Lebanon, and Jerry Salvo, son of S. J. Salvo of Great Falls, Montana, who will be married at the First Congregational church at 3 o'clock with Dr. Daniel Schulz officiating.

Lighting the candles will be Miss Mary Evelyn Fisher and Mrs. Donald Behrends. Mrs. Larry Ousterhout of Medford will be the organist.

Miss Juanita Brown will be her sister's honor attendant and bridesmaids will be another sister, Miss Alma Brown, and Miss Gladys Crenshaw. George Luoma of Roseburg will be best man and ushers are Donald Behrends of Forest Grove and Joseph Sturckler of Portland.

A reception will follow in the church parlors. The couple will live in Roseburg and he has been employed in Salem with Judd's plumbing and heating. Her fiancé is a graduate of Sacred Heart academy in Salem and is now attending Multnomah college refrigeration school in Portland, where the couple will live. He served in the navy for two years.

Dean Milam Is Guest Speaker

WOODBURN — More than 70 women from the Central Willamette district conference of Business and Professional Women's clubs at a 1 o'clock dinner at St. Luke's hall in Woodburn Sunday heard Ava B. Milam, dean of the school of home economics at Oregon State college, describe the Oregon plan for financing home economics departments in Christian colleges in China. Dean Milam, who at one time lived in China and studied women's needs and who has sponsored home economics education scholarships for Chinese women at Oregon State, explained the need, not only for homemaking studies in Chinese schools, but also in Chinese homes.

The convention opened in the city library clubrooms with a 9 o'clock coffee and doughnuts served by the Woodburn hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Frank Bentley. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Mabel B. Grass, local president, followed by introductions of state officers present by Mrs. Virginia Stewart, Newport, district chairman. Officers presented were Mrs. Leona Jensen, Eugene, state president, who spoke briefly; Mrs. Carmelita Weddle, Salem, first vice president; Mrs. Charles Edwards, Philomath, second vice president; Grace Richard, Salem, corresponding secretary; and Georgia Taylor, treasurer.

The Oregon plan for financing home economics departments in Chinese schools was explained by Eunice Courtright, Corvallis, state international relations chairman, as a plan whereby club members give a day's pay once a year for two years to support of Chinese homemaking education. Five Business and Professional Women's clubs in various Oregon towns have thus far endorsed the plan.

Local chairmen for the conference were Mrs. Molly Hunt, invitations; Mrs. Bentley, hospitality; Mrs. Henry Stange, program; Miss Gladys Adams, music; Mrs. G. B. Smith, dinner decorations; and Mrs. Eugene Stoller, registration.

Clubs participating were McMinnville, Tuff, Newport, Toledo, Corvallis, Albany, Salem, Dallas, Silvertown, Lebanon and Sweet Home.

Mrs. Hal Reeves of Jefferson will be toastmistress at the program Wednesday night of Salem Toastmistresses. Speakers will be Jean Spaulding, Marguerite Gleson and Mrs. Emerson Teague. Mrs. W. L. Spaulding will be table topics chairman. Dinner meetings are held at 6 o'clock in Nohlgren's restaurant.

Mrs. Herman Jochimsen will entertain the Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae at her Leslie street home tonight at an 8 o'clock dessert supper.
