Slow Market's Trend Devious

Buying here and there was based on persistent business optimism. The ending of credit controls and the shift of British voters to the conservative ranks were mildly bullish. Apprehension regarding taxes, possible reinstatement of several economic regulations by congress and the refusal of the market to respond to good news inspired further selling.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was unchanged at 65.5 owing to the fact that a few wider gainers were in the index.
