More on Nuts

If You Buy Them, Here's Chart to Facilitate Economy; How to Store

By Maxine Baren
Women's Editor, The Statesman

By mail this morning brings some material of value to the housewife. There are a few pieces of valuable statistics for her, some information which may help in planning meals, and a few items of food news.

First there's this information on the question of which way it's most wise to buy nuts, in or out of the shell.

The statistician says they are sure to be without contamination when purchased in the shell, and are less expensive, but the labor of shelling out offsets the difference in price.

Here is an actual table, worked out by the department of agriculture, comparing in weight, various nuts in and out of the shell and which will give an accurate comparison of prices.

Variety	in shell	Shelled
Almonds	3 1/2 lbs. ....	1 lb.
Filberts	2 1/4 lbs. ....	1 lb.
Peanuts	1 1/2 lbs. ....	1 lb.
Pecans	2 1/2 lbs. ....	1 lb.
Walnuts (black)	5 1/2 lbs. ....	1 lb.
Walnuts (Eng.)	2 1/2 lbs. ....	1 lb.

All the above nuts except the walnuts weigh out about 3 1/2 cups per pound. One pound black walnuts measures 3 cups if broken, 4 cups if in halves. English walnuts measure 4 cups per pound for halves, approximately 3 1/2 cups per pound if in medium sized broken pieces.

As the flavor of nuts come mainly from their oil, it's wise to keep it from turning rancid and spoiling flavor. Place in airtight container in cool, dark, dry place.

You can seal the nuts for longer keeping in the following way: Place the kernels, which are free from bits of shell, and in good shape, in sterilized, dry half pint or pint jars. Partially seal jars, that is, adjust lids. Place in hot water bath, letting water come 2 inches up on jar. Boil 30 minutes. Complete seals, cool and store in a cool dark place.

The bureau of agriculture suggests the use of dried fruits, which seem plentiful in the markets just now. I like to combine several for a breakfast fruit, mildly spicing them with cinnamon and nutmeg.

Peaches, prunes and apricots, with perhaps some raisins, make a good combination.

Dried limas made into a loaf make a meatless dish, practically as full of protein as the meat. Some form of legumes should be included in each week's menus, now that we want especially to economize.

Seafarers will meet at the Salem Woman's clubhouse Thursday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock for a dessert luncheon. Hostesses are Mrs. James L. Payne, chairman, Mrs. Bruce Smith, Mrs. Richard L. Christopher, Mrs. Ralph DeMetz, Mrs. R. L. Coie and Mrs. Lloyd DeGroote.

Bruce Follis, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Follis was host at a birthday party Thursday. Guests were Helen Manke, Barbara Marshall, Patricia Wheelan, Mike Youngquist, Bobby Merritt, Jimmy Litchfield, Larry Chase and Mrs. Carrie Chase, his grandmother who assisted Mrs. Follis.

The Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae will be entertained Thursday night at the Fairmount Hill home of Mrs. Taylor Hawkins at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Richard Slater will be the assisting hostess.

Ceremony Read At Church

STAYTON—In a ceremony performed in the United Brethren church at Salem Saturday, October 25, Miss Clare Jean Baldinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Burch of Stayton, became the bride of Eldred Berdell Miller of Lyons. The bride wore a gown of white satin with embroidered neckline, fashioned with long sleeves and train. Her veil was fingertip length, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Mary Wickizer of Salem, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a pink gown with net yoke and overskirt. Larry Pritchard attended the groom.

A black suit with matching accessories was worn by Mrs. Burch, while the groom's mother was gowned in a dark dress.

A reception was held at the Wickizer home at 1095 South 18th street, following the ceremony.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Vancouver and will make their home in Lyons. The bride graduated from Stayton high school this year.

Visitors in Salem Monday were Dr. and Mrs. Louis B. Schoel of Portland, who formerly resided in the capital.

Eastern Star will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Masonic temple for men's night. Mrs. Fred Keeler and H. R. Robinson will preside. Gordon Barker is chairman of the reception committee.

Weekend guests in the capital were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dashney and sons, John and Tommy, of McMinnville, who were at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Braden.
