

Both Parties Claim Victory In Elections

By the Associated Press
The meaning of Tuesday's off-year election results was disputed vigorously today by leaders of the two major parties.

Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath called the results "gratifying, but not unexpected."

Carroll Reece, head of the Republican national committee, declared the outcome could mean only that the voters are pleased with the record of the Republican dominated congress.

Some other analysts could find little to indicate how the wind will blow in 1948.

Election board tabulations showed democrats regaining the Kentucky governorship, a country judge succeeding the late Theodore C. Bilbo's Mississippi senate seat, and three house races ending according to form, with republican candidates winning in Indiana and Ohio and a democrat in Brooklyn.

Results of the headline contests included:
Democratic Congressman Earle C. Clements defeated republican Eldon S. Dummit for the Kentucky governorship, held the last four years by Simon Willis, republican. Willis was ineligible to succeed himself.

John C. Stennis outdistanced four democratic and one republican opponent for the Mississippi senate seat. Virtually unknown outside his state, the rural jurist conducted a conservative campaign which ignored the "white supremacy" issue frequently raised in Mississippi politics.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Now that Howard Hughes' huge flying boat has floated and even flown a little the question arises—what's to be done with it?

And nobody in Washington will admit having any definite ideas. Officially it's the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's airplane. That agency put up the government's $18,000,000 share of the cost, to which Hughes, Los Angeles aircraft designer, says he had added some $7,000,000 of his own money.

RFC officials acknowledge they can't think up any use to which the lending agency itself could put the ship—the RFC financed it for the War Production Board as a wartime project with military uses in mind.

But an RFC official said there had been no word from the army, navy or airforce that they did not want the plane. The RFC, he said, can't move until it finds out the services' position.

Information officers of the armed services said they didn't know a thing about it.

Officials of both RFC and the War Assets Administration told a reporter that if no government agency wants the flying boat the normal procedure would be for RFC to declare it surplus and turn it over to WAA for disposal.

Marine Corps Party Planned

Salem's marine corps reserve met with representatives of the Salem Marine Corps league at the airport Wednesday night to consolidate plans for celebration of the marine corps birthday at a dinner party Friday night.

The reserve unit, commanded by Maj. Leonard Hicks, will furnish the color guard for the Armistice day parade here, Hicks announced. Members of the guard will be Cpl. R. B. Moor, Cpl. G. D. O'Hara, Cpl. K. D. Leibolt and Sgt. W. A. Curry.

Three new enlistments inducted at the meeting were T/Sgt. Eddie J. Kelm, 1210 S. 18th st., and Pvt. Nathaniel Philip Grayson, Portland, and Frank C. Ware, 345 S. Winter st.

Ike's Brother Wary of Jokes On Candidacy

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 5 (AP)—Brother Edgar Eisenhower has taken a vow of caution in his remarks about General Ike (Dwight D.), even in jest.

The 58-year-old Tacoma attorney said in an interview today that he learned his lesson after a recent meeting of army and industry representatives at Fort Lewis.

"Someone showed me a letter from Washington with 'Eisenhower for President Club' printed on it," he said, in explaining how his little joke snowballed into a national political rumor.

"So jokingly I said: 'We're going to kill that guy's chances for president right now. We'll start a club opposing him with myself as president and Jim Stack as secretary.'" (Stack, now of Tacoma, served as General Eisenhower's wartime aide).

Either some of those present misunderstood the legal member of the Eisenhower family or forgot to laugh when they re-told the story. A report that Eisenhower would oppose any political candidacy of his famous brother seeped across-country.

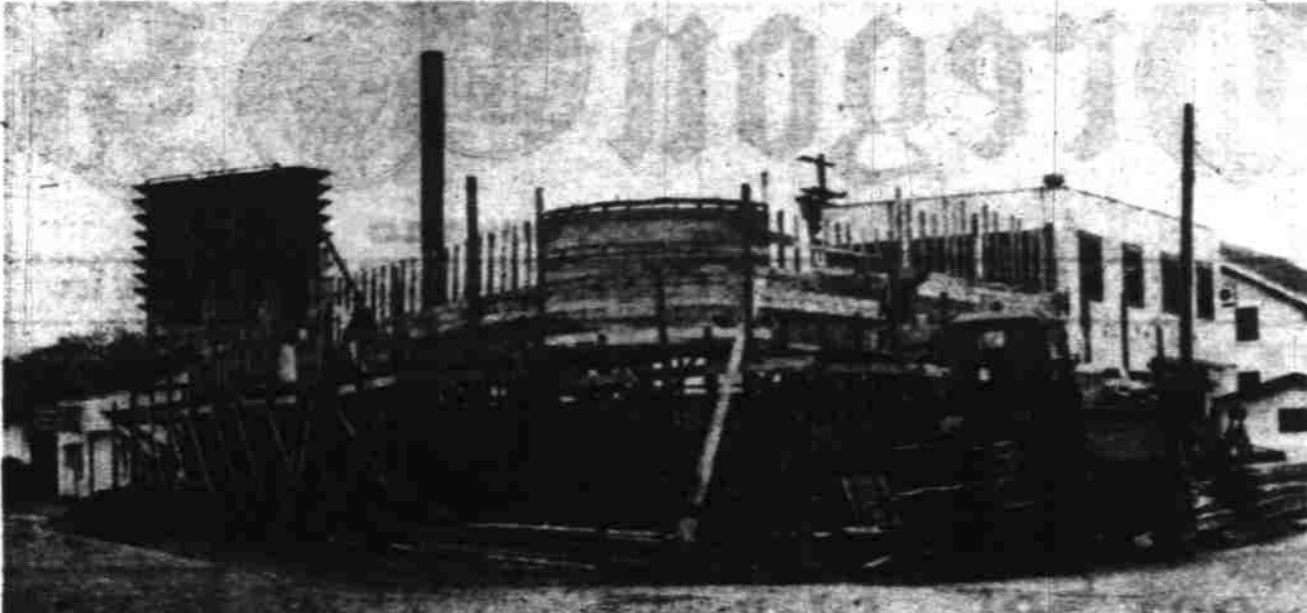

"A Washington, D. C., columnist called me long distance Sunday night," he continued. "He wanted to know more about my club and how I happened to be against my own brother. Imagine that! Say, I'd like to spike the thing before it gets serious."

Asked what his real feeling is about the talk of his brother as a possible presidential candidate, the attorney put his new vow in practice. That, he said, is a subject for no comment.

Albany High Football Player Still 'Critical'

Ike Olling, 14, Albany, taken to Salem Deaconess hospital Monday with critical head injuries following an auto accident, near Woodburn, was "unchanged," hospital authorities reported late Wednesday night. Olling was injured when a car in which he was returning from a football game at Tigard with five other teammates overturned three miles west of Woodburn. The other youths escaped with slight injuries but the car was demolished.

Curly's Dairy Expansion Under Way

Latest Salem industry to expand is Curly's dairy with a $77,000 expansion and remodeling program under way. Owner Hans Hofmeister is adding a two story 40 by 90 foot office and processing building to the old building which was built in 1928 at 645 Hood st. The new building will be at the intersection of Fairgrounds road and Hood street. Included in remodeling plans, to be completed next year, are locker and shower rooms and lounge for employees, testing laboratories, double office space and enlarged retail sales room. DAV to Talk Of Plans for Armistice Day

Members of Salem chapter 6, Disabled American Veterans, will meet tonight at the Women's club house at 8 p. m. to discuss plans for the Armistice day program and parade.

National service officer Kelsey, Portland, will attend the meeting to furnish information on veterans problems, and all DAV members are invited to present their particular insurance or veteran benefit problems.

Verne Ostrander, building committee chairman, will report on the progress of the proposed veterans memorial building. Don Lutz, Forget-Me-Not flower sale committee chairman, will give a full account of the organization's recent flower sale.

Plans will be formulated for a reunion of all chapter members, district chapters and state DAV officials to be held here sometime during the early part of December. A membership drive, to last several months, will be organized with the local membership being divided into several recruiting teams. Winner of the drive will receive a silver trophy.

All new members will be initiated at the start of the meeting, and refreshments will be served by the women's auxiliary at the conclusion of the business session.

Eugene Woman Convicted of Killing Spouse

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP)—Helen Rookard, young housewife convicted of manslaughter in the shooting of her husband at their Creswell home, was sentenced to 10 years in the state prison and fined $500 today by Circuit Judge George F. Skipworth.

The woman displayed virtually no emotion as she heard the sentence after Judge Skipworth reviewed the facts of the case and emphasized his belief that she had provoked the tragedy by entering into illicit relations with another man.

The court expressed surprise there had not been a fatal shooting earlier than the night of August 17 when Walter Rookard, the husband, was shot after the couple fought in their home. The couple had been married before and divorced, then remarried.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 (AP)—The threat of a one-year ban by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, head of the Philadelphia archdiocese, failed to stop the showing of "The Outlaw" and "Forever Amber" at two Philadelphia theaters.

"As long as it does a good business 'Forever Amber' will continue to be shown at the Fox theater," Andrew Smith, sales manager of Twentieth-Century Fox said today.

A spokesman for the William Goldman Theaters, Inc., said advertisements for "The Outlaw,"

Pacifists Termed 'Enemies of Peace' By Admiral Gatch

PORTLAND, Nov. 5 (AP)—Vice Admiral Thomas L. Gatch, USN, retired, said here tonight that "Pacifists are the worst enemies of peace" and criticized the nation for having thrown away its armed might before peace was secured.

He spoke at the 50th anniversary Founders' day banquet of Multnomah college, a non campus school which now has a peak of 3,000 students enrolled in its various classes scattered throughout the city.

The only remnants of Lake Bonneville, which covered western Utah, eastern Nevada and southern Idaho for perhaps 25,000 years are the Great Salt lake, Utah lake and Sevier lake.

Byrnes Asks Soviet Return Japan POWs

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 5 (AP)—Charging that Russia has violated "a solemn pledge," James F. Byrnes said tonight it is our duty to demand that Marshal Stalin "immediately return" an estimated 828,000 Japanese prisoners.

"Our good faith is involved," declared the former secretary of state, because we took the initiative in the Potsdam declaration that promised Japanese troops a safe return home to encourage them to surrender.

Russia adhered to this and is bound by the pledge, but instead of letting these prisoners of war go home, "they took hundreds of thousands of them to Russia. Every day the soviets hold them as prisoners, it is an inexcusable violation of a solemn pledge," asserted Byrnes.

"We must let the world know that this violation is not condoned by the United States," he counseled in a speech before the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church.

But despite his criticism of Russia, Byrnes emphasized that he was still in favor of a policy of "patience" as well as firmness toward that country. We must not forget, he said, what the Russian people have been through, and we must not "lightly assume that the soviet leaders, despite their blustering, bad manners and abuse, want war."

"GREEN LIGHT" FOR FARMS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Marshall plan to help Europe means full steam ahead for the American farmer for four more years, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—AFL President William Green today took the oath that he is not a communist and thus became the 19,307th union official to file such an affidavit with the national labor relations board.

Lack of Grain In Northwest Said Threat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—President Truman's food saving program to provide for large shipments of wheat to Europe Rep. Horan (R-Wash.) said today threatens a wheat shortage in the Pacific northwest until the next crop is harvested.

"This will be true, particularly, if we ship more than 400,000,000 bushels of wheat to Europe," said Horan.

He added in an interview that he had talked with the agriculture department about plans to get farmers to sell their wheat this year instead of holding it, but many farmers do not wish to do so because it would increase their income taxes. He said the agriculture department is studying a plan under which income received from wheat sold after a certain date this year can be reported as income next year.
