

Guard's Open House Popular Here; Marines Celebrate; Reserves Plan

Equipment Shown; 3 Units Schedule Reserve Carnival

More than 500 persons streamed into the Salem armory Monday night for national guard company B's open house at which motion pictures of atom bomb explosions and the D-day landings in Europe were shown and all manner of military equipment displayed.

There was no formal program but valuable prizes were awarded, with Al Schuss as master of ceremonies, and refreshments served.

At least six potential members of the national guard were signed up. The event, planned as an annual affair, was in charge of Capt. Burl Cox, commanding company B, 162nd infantry, and Robert R. Boardman, chairman of the mayor's citizen committee.

3 Units Schedule Reserve Carnival

Members of Salem's three army reserve units met at reserve headquarters Monday night for a business and social meeting and to make plans for their carnival here November 21.

Present were officers and men of the 369th engineers, 409th quartermaster and 415th infantry regiments. Lt. Ingvald Johnson led a discussion on the Palestine situation, and Capt. R. A. Reynolds, new unit instructor, discussed the progress of the Oregon reserve.

Following the business session members were joined by the auxiliary for a social hour.

Christmas Ship Meeting Slated

SEATTLE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Representatives for four Pacific northwest states have been invited to attend a meeting in Mayor William F. Devin's office Friday to make plans for a Christmas food ship for Europe, the mayor's special food committee announced today. The states include Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 10 (AP)—America's friendship train comprised 31 carloads of foodstuffs as it headed east from Ogden today, Utah's Gov. Herbert B. Maw in command. The train started from Los Angeles Saturday, carrying food intended to aid in relieving suffering in Europe.

Farmers Must 'Know Rules'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The supreme court, in a decision which Justice Jackson blasted as absurd rule today that it's up to a farmer who takes out federal crop insurance to familiarize himself with regulations published in the "federal register."

"To my mind," said Jackson, "it is an absurdity to hold that every farmer who insures his crops knows what the federal register contains or even knows that there is such a publication."

If he were to peruse this voluminous and dull publication... he would never need crop insurance, for he would never get time to plant any crops.

The vote, overturning a decision of the Idaho supreme court holding that the Federal Crop Insurance corporation should pay $3,980 to Merrill Bros., Bonneville county (Idaho) farmers, was 5 to 4.

Siam Rebels Name Premier

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 10 (AP)—The military clique ruling Siam by virtue of a bloodless revolt imposed a new constitution today upon the country under which the monarchy regained some of the powers it lost more than a year ago.

Pibul Songgram, the wartime premier-dictator of Siam, and his military associates appointed Luang Aphaiwong as premier and named a five-man privy council.

Council Drops Five Proposed Street Changes

Reflecting the citizenry's opposition to change—especially where one's street name is concerned—the Salem city council Monday night cut the heart from the city planning and zoning commission's recommended legislation for street name changes designed to avoid duplications and confusion.

Councilmen withheld final action on the bill after rejecting five of its 13 proposed changes. The five eliminated sections which had aroused controversy when suggested are: Change High street to Broadway, West Nob Hill to Liberty, East Nob Hill to Nob Hill, Fairgrounds road to Portland road and part of Evergreen avenue to Duncan avenue.

At the suggestion of its residents, aldermen put into the bill as substitute name for Terrace avenue that of Wild Wind drive. No new name had been suggested by the zoners. Other changes, remaining in the bill, are: Oregon avenue to Andrew way, Gregson street to Hickory, Incinerator road to South 25th street, 22nd and 23rd streets off Market street to 23rd and 24th, respectively, Prospect lane to North Commercial street and eliminate Peck street entirely (as it is occupied only by Shelton ditch).

New laws voted last night accept property from J. L. DeLapp for extending Myrtle avenue, five Southern Pacific a franchise for a spur track across Howard street, authorize $44,127 worth of Bancroft bonds and assess property owners for improvement of Academy street from 4th to Broadway.

New bills introduced and pending, besides the franchise and setback measures, would provide residential zoning (temporarily) for all newly annexed city territory, establish sewer rental charges for home and business sewer users, establish sidewalk lines on Hickory between Maple and 5th streets and amend the fee schedule for claiming impounded dogs.

In other matters, the council authorized employment of J. B. Protzman at $900 for the annual city audit, empowered the city manager to invest as prescribed by law certain city funds not needed within six months, transferred the remaining $66,128 of the post-war projects fund into the general fund and temporarily transferred $35,000 from the state tax street fund to the street repair tax fund (until city receives its tax turnover in January).

A final parking meter statement was approved, showing the city paid Michael Arts Bronze Co. $4 for each parking meter standard and temporarily transferred the Park-O-Meter company (whose meters last month replaced the Mico-meters) a credit of $7.50 for each. The city also refunded $750 of the $1,000 originally provided by the Michaels firm for cost of city litigation over parking meters.

The home service department reported a case load of 191 persons and an expenditure of $652.89 during October. Reports were also given on the recent Red Cross regional conference in Portland, which 11 local members attended.

It was announced that a standard first aid class will be started at the local chapter November 18. The class will be taught by Capt. Arthur Bloom, head of the city first aid unit. Persons who wish to attend are instructed to call Red Cross headquarters at 9277.

PORTLAND, Nov. 10 (AP)—Perhaps Carl Curry, Tavern owner here, needs target practice. When he heard on intruder in his establishment early today, he got out his pistol and shot: (1) the wall; (2) a pinball machine, and (3) his wife. The intruder escaped.

Mrs. Curry suffered a flesh wound in the shoulder.

Heads New Bank Here
