Two Salem bankers, Orval C. Kennen and Sherman F. Bostrack, have been appointed assistant managers of the Ladd & Bush-Salem branch, United States National Bank of Portland, President E. C. Sammons announced Saturday. The financial careers of both men, long-time personal friends, have been closely parallel through the years. Both were graduated from Salem high school. Joined the staff of Ladd & Bush bank in the late '20s, and continued in their positions when the bank was converted to a branch of United States National in the spring of 1940.

Kennen, who lives at Salem route 9, box 146, began as a chief clerk and worked up through the credit department. Since the end of the war he has been with the GI and FHA loan department.

Also active in the credit field, Bostrack, 140 Park ave., gained experience with the installment and personal loans department, later became a collateral teller, and at the time of his current appointment was manager of the installment loans and consumer credit department.

Both new officers have been active in the American Institute of Banking and each has served a term as president of the Marion county chapter. Bostrack also has worked as chairman of the finance committee and Kennen has been a member of the institute's board of governors. Labor Force-Job Ratio Better As Oregon Population Climbs

Oregon's population has increased by 39 per cent to approximately 1,517,000 since 1940, and is surpassed in this increase by only the state of California, the postwar readjustment and development commission reported to Gov. John Hall Saturday.

Although suffering slightly from "growing pains," Oregon has maintained an average ratio between its labor force and employment, with the result that unemployment in the state is considerably less than that of other states, the commission said.

Other items of the report: There has been a heavy increase in population in persons under 14 years old, and the male population jumped by 21 per cent and the female by 19 per cent. In metropolitan districts the number of families has increased more rapidly than the total population, but the average family membership is about the same as in 1940.

With only three persons in the average family, Oregon is the lowest in the nation in this respect. Percentage of the population represented in the state's labor force has increased only slightly since 1940. In 1940 the percentage was about 54 as compared with the present 57 per cent. Percentage of the labor force with jobs in 1940 was 85 and now 95 percent. Women make up 34 per cent of the total labor force.

The average Oregon wage is now $232.10 a month compared with $206.45 last year.
