Statesman's Home-of-the-Week

THE VICTOR—In the Victor, we present a house that offers what is practically the irreducible minimum in accommodations, four good, livable rooms and bath. But what rooms! And what a plan! And how beautifully the architect has developed the exterior! Its lines are as balanced, its whole appearance as attractive as you might expect to find in homes costing twice as much. The Victor has just a few luxurles; a living room a couple of feet larger each way than FHA standards call for. It also beasts an open fireplace. The kitchen has a built-in dinette, a great convenience in the house without a separate dining room. Each bedroom is 20 square feet larger than FHA requirements. There is a partial basement that would permit the installation of a "pipeless" furnace, the cheapest form of central heat. The Viclor was designed according to the exacting standards of Housing Plan Service. It meets FHA standards and its wiring diagram carries the seal of National Adequate Wiring Bureau which insures economy, safety and efficiency of electrical use. Complete architect's working drawings and specifications from which the Victor may be built should be ordered from Housing Plan Service, The Oregon Statesman, 140 Nassau street—New York, 7, N. Y. Damon said Frances Flint, a Vassar college graduate, had been missing from her Cambridge home since Tuesday. The body was face upward in Glenzen lane with the girl's clothes about 50 feet away. Police said the body was identified by Mrs. William Flint of Cam-
