Miss Corinne Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wade, is convalescing at the home of her parents after recovering from pneumonia at the Hillsboro hospital.

Out of Character

Frosty Day Keeps People Home, at Least So Thinks Typical Oregonian

Walking downtown on a frosty morning we noted a number of things. Spring prints and hats gaily ornamented with spring flowers looked mighty cold, shivering in the windows of local shoppes.

But if the reverse of big sales of furs in July works on warm weather clothes, then dealers should have made a big cleaning of spring ready-to-wear during the past week.

Noted several men wearing high heels. Some are in the guise of cowboys with boots and uncomfortable looking spike heels, but entirely too many men of small stature are wearing lifts on heels, to convince us of the much publicized modesty of the sex.

Seeing several teen agers, we wished they would tuck the tails of their dragging-in-the-rear swing back coats into their bobby socks and keep them out of the dust.

The streets seemed almost deserted, compared to the ordinary bustling of a rainy day. Parking places were everywhere, because people just weren't out, and neither would we have been if it weren't a matter of no worky no eaty.

There are those who draw a deep breath and say "My, I love this cold weather" but I failed to meet any on the way to town.

Miss Laverne Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin S. Rowland of Rickreall, whose engagement to Kenneth Strain, son of Mr and Mrs. J. A. Strain of Oregon City, has been announced. The wedding is planned for August. (Jessen-Miller).

Girl Scouts Are Active

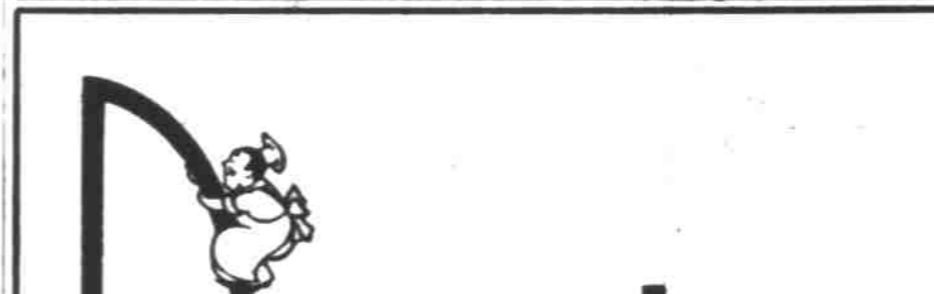

Girl Scout troops have been engaged in many activities during the past week. Troop 50, led by Mrs. Paul Bale, and assisted by Mrs. James Payne, is working on 'My Community Badge', and on January 13 visited the City hall. They were shown through the police department, radio room, and met the City Manager, J. L. Franzen, who talked to the troop about the future plans for Salem. The troop also visited the City Water department and learned about the city water supply. The next two weeks, Mrs. Gertrude Ayers will instruct Troop 50 in songs.

January 18, eight mothers met at the home of Mrs. Herman Jochimsen to discuss and make plans for a new Brownie Troop. Miss Lucy McAfee, executive director of the Santiam Area, told what a Brownie does in her troop, and what the leaders and troop committees' obligations are to the troop. Miss Victor Waidele, Salem Girl Scout Association organization chairman, gave a short summary on what the Brownie troops in Salem have done. Mrs. B. F. Fletcher volunteered to be the new Brownie troop leader, and Mrs. Gilbert Stein will be the assistant leader.

The troop committee formed includes Mrs. W. D. Kyle, Mrs. Edwin Keech, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. Harold Olinger and Mrs. Herman Jochimsen. Mrs. Louise Enlow and Mrs. H. R. Tipton will assist with the troop's activities.

January 15, Girl Scout troop 5, led by Mrs. Lewis Mosier, entertained fourteen Girl Scouts from the Chemawa troop at First Congregational Church. Mrs. Hazel Mason, the troop leader, and Mrs. Nel Brannon, committee chairman, were guests. Mrs. Gertrude Ayers taught the troops new songs and dances. Troop 5 is now working on its "dance badge."

At Christmas troop 5 visited the new Chemawa troop and presented the troop with a gift of flowering bulbs to welcome them into Girl Scouts.
