Conference Cage Series Starts in Eugene Area

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Feb. 12-(Special)-Oregon and Idaho will open their two-game northern division basketball series here in McArthur court Friday night at 8 o'clock. The second game is called for Saturday night, same time, and both contests loom as "musts" for Coach John Warren's quint which now rests in fourth place with three wins and six losses. Oregon topped Idaho last week 64-46, only to have the Vandals come back the following night for a 55-52 evener.

Starters for Friday night are likely Dick Wilkins and Jim Bartelt, forwards; Roger Wiley, center, and Stan Williamson and Al Popick, guards, for Oregon. For Idaho, Dick Geisler and Dexter Linck, forwards, Jay Gano, center and Joe Grove and Preston Brimhall, guards.

Since the ineligibility of Jack Phoenix, 6-foot, 9-inch Idaho center, Brimhall has been the leading Vandal scorer. Big Roger Wiley, who has come fast in the conference scoring race lately, is Oregon's No. 1 pointsman. Wiley has 125 markers in nine games and last week scored 40 in the two Idaho tilts.

situations which place his diamond career in jeopardy. Eddie' as you TOM WARREN doubtless have read, wagged his tongue at the expense of his Cincinnati bosses and was promptly traded. Probably the one reason and it's a good one—that the Phils acquired Eddie is the fact Miller is rated by many, the best shortstop in the majors. If Eddie had been only mediocre he would have been out of the big league picture some time ago, for his temperament is not the kind ball clubs like. . . .

Carlos (Cub) Houck, Salem high's pivot man, may not be a long range dead eye dick but Cub in an under-the-basket scrimmage, is a very dangerous guy. He's blossomed out this year as a first rate tipper-in and showed especially well in that department against the Albany Bulldogs the other eve. One thing that should draw the eyes of college mentors to Houck is the kid's aggressiveness. The rougher the going the better Cub likes it. . . .

Hank Juran and his Salem high grapplers are off to a good start with nine wins and but two setbacks thus far in the campaign-and what a back-breaking schedule they've taken on this year. The Vik matmen have gone into action as much as four times in one week and that includes some good-sized trips. The kids who turn out for the mat sport really love the game. They don't get the crowds or the cheers that the hoop boys do, but they're trying just as hard. . . . Frank (Buster) McMillan, the one-time Carl Mays ball schooler and Portland Beaver who comes to the Senators this year, is another guy who might have hit the top but for the war. Buster was a whale of a kid catching prospect for the Portlands about 1938 and seemingly couldn't miss advancing up the baseball ladder.
