

Miss Jean Taylor Is Engaged

At a Valentine tea on Saturday afternoon Miss Jean Taylor told a group of her friends of her betrothal to Samuel James Stinebaugh, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Stinebaugh of Grants Pass. The brunette bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman Taylor of Portland. No date has been set for the wedding.

The news was revealed at an informal tea for which Miss Taylor and Miss Florence Duffy were hostesses at the Union street home of Mrs. William H. Burghardt. Guests called after 3 o'clock. Mrs. Stewart Johnson presided at the tea and assisting were Miss Marianne Low and Miss Mary McKay.

Miss Taylor is a graduate of the University of Oregon and a member of Alpha Phi sorority. She is society editor of the Capital Journal. The past year she has served as president of the Spinster. Her fiancé attended the University of Oregon and his fraternity is Phi Gamma Delta. He served in the navy for three years during the war. He is now in business in Grants Pass with his father, where the couple will make their home.

BROOKS—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Klampe entertained with a dinner Sunday, honoring E. B. Klampe on his birthday anniversary. Covers were placed for the honor guest, E. B. Klampe and Mrs. E. B. Klampe, Mrs. W. F. Klampe, Velmar and Grace Klampe, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Klampe, Caddy and Lorna, Arlyce, Morris, Marvin and Nyles Klampe, and Rev. Lloyd Eucher and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Klampe.

Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian church will meet for a 1:30 o'clock dessert luncheon on Wednesday afternoon at the church parlors. Mrs. H. J. Thomas heads the committee in charge. Mrs. Elmer O. Berg is program chairman and Clare Argow, Portland, executive secretary of the Oregon Prison association, has been secured as the speaker.

Mrs. Max Flohrer will entertain the Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae at her North Church street home Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Don't Look Now...

But... your meters are slipping Mister Mayor.

All right, all right... here's the rain, we hope, so everyone stop sniffing.

So what? ... California scientists have claimed to produce gold by bombarding metallic substances with some chemicals. The only thing is the gold disappears. We repeat, so what!

Go! go! go! ... Men are a modest sex. Sitting in an audience, we had a chance to observe the way men subtly or brazenly clutch at each falling hair as a drowning man to his straw. There is Low Part Looie, who sets his part down another notch each season until now he's grazing his left ear with the comb in a vain effort to catch just one more hair to hoist up and over the hump. Front Fringe Ferdie combs his (all five) pompadore, laying each down in its place like five little wooden Indians. High Forehead Herman finds a part right in the center, with careless downward sweep of the comb, covers those two shiny peaks over each temple perfectly, though he longs for the return of the Spit Curl. And then there is Flat Tom Thomas whose long curly tresses gently caress his coat collar, and terminate in an ever-widening center of interest the ex-crown of his head. The profile is a bit odd, but the manly spirit is strong and confident.

These Are Modest... but the man of my heart is the heroic fellow who bravely polishes his pate and daring pneumonia to strike, waves it in the breeze, a mark of distinction!... Maxine Buren.

Portland Symphony Here Wednesday In Second of Two Winter Programs

The Portland Symphony's second appearance at Salem high school auditorium set for Wednesday night is being greeted with even more enthusiasm than the first, and if what Portland music critics say is true, this concert will be even better than the first.

The critics have spared no adjectives in their reviews of programs of the symphony under the direction of Werner Janssen, and wax more eloquent with each concert.

The symphony orchestra, which was reorganized this year after seven years of inaction, has made great strides under the leadership of the eminent conductor, Janssen.

Included in the program will be the well known popular classics overture of "Marriage of Figaro," waltz from "Serenade for strings" by Tchaikowsky, six movements of Stravinsky's "Firebird" suite and Brahms "Symphony No. 4 in E minor," certainly an imposing collection of music.

Opinion of Salem listeners who attended the first concert here in January is that the Portland symphony gave them the best performance they have heard on a Salem platform for many years.

Opinions as to whether or not the concert-going Salem public wishes the orchestra back next year will be asked. If this year's season proves successful and the public desires, this series of concerts by

Auxiliary Will Hear Speaker

Mrs. A. F. de Lespinasse of Hubbard will speak on child delinquency research in Holland at Monday's meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, Capital unit. Mrs. de Lespinasse recently returned from a trip to Europe.

Special guests will be Mrs. Craig Coyner, Bend, department of Oregon president, Mrs. Mae Whitcomb, Portland, department secretary, and Mrs. Leon Brown, Salem, national committeewoman from Oregon.

A violin quartet composed of Carol Koster, Gloria White, Bob Danielson, and Phil Ringle, Jr., accompanied by Dick Louphan will play.

Americanism chairman Mrs. E. W. Ritchey, and national defense chairman, Mrs. Clark Craig and their committees will have charge of the tea hour.

Mrs. Merle Travis, unit president will preside at the meeting. Women interested in hearing Mrs. de Lespinasse are invited to attend the meeting which will be at the Woman's club house at 8 p.m.

The Portland symphony will be the annual event, say members of the executive board of the Salem Philharmonic association, sponsoring group.
