100 Caneberry Growers Hear Plant, Soil Experts in Salem

By Little L. Madsen, Farm Editor, The Statesman

Youngberries, once so popular in the Willamette valley, are losing favor among growers. George Waldo, United States department of agriculture plant breeder, Corvallis, told some 100 caneberry growers Friday at Salem Chamber of Commerce.

Climatic conditions are very favorable to the growth of cane if given half a chance they will continue to do well here. He observed that the thornless logan and evergreen seem to be quite successful but the thornless boysen and youngberry were not giving constantly good results.

2 Warehouse Projects Ready At Salem Sites

Permits to build two warehouses in Salem at a total cost of $23,216 were issued Friday by the city engineer's office.

Ivan Stewart, owner of Ivan Stewart and Company, 306 S. High st., received authorization to build a $14,000 warehouse at his present business site. Construction will get under way in the early spring after part of the present building is torn down. Wrecking operations are expected to start as soon as weather permits, Stewart said Friday. The warehouse will be of cement construction.

The secretary of state's office of Oregon was granted permission to erect a combination warehouse and garage at 1210 Ferry st., beside the state heating plant, at a cost of $9,216. The project was approved by the board of control at its Thursday meeting.

Fred Patzer, Salem contractor, is in charge of construction which will start as soon as materials are here. The building will be of cement construction and will be used to house state cars and materials used by the secretary of state's office.

Chris Madsen, Salem house wrecker, was granted a permit to start wrecking operations on the Claudius Thayer residence at 255 N. Capitol to make way for the new state office building. The old mansion was occupied recently by the late Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell, Jr.

Other permits issued Friday went to Oscar Bjornson to alter a house and garage at 1807 Broadway st., $500; and to Mrs. Bessie C. Smith to reroof a residence at 245 E. Lincoln st., $298.

Recorder Lanke Says Try for Job As Clerk Unlikely

The suggested candidacy of Marion County Recorder Herman Lanke for the position of County clerk is highly improbable, Lanke said Friday. He is not required to stand for election in his own office this year.

The statement was prompted by talk of the possibility that the legislature might merge the clerk's and recorder's offices as they are in some counties.

Lanke deplored such a move as "all right 25 years ago, but not now." Because of increased duties, the offices should be separated in all western Oregon counties, Lanke added. At present only three Oregon counties, Marion, Linn and Umatilla, have separate recorder and clerk positions.

Legion Post Files New Legal Status

Supplementary articles of incorporation for Capital post 9, American Legion, were filed Friday with the Marion county clerk, according to plans announced recently by the post.

New provisions in the supplementary articles include the change of the post's name from Capitol to Capital and the new address of 2650 S. Commercial st., which the post recently voted to buy. The property is now occupied by the Normandy Manor, a dining establishment. The original articles for the post were filed Oct. 13, 1928.

SP Challenges Silverton Flax Firm Complaint

Claim that the Southern Pacific company was acting within the law and that it "could not lawfully refuse to accept" shipments of flax fibre and low from the Oregon state flax industry was made by the company Friday in an answer filed in Marion county circuit court to a suit brought by Charles H. and T. T. Leonard of the Silverton Flax company.

The Leonards sued to bar the state from the flax industry, in which convict labor is used, and to bar the products from interstate commerce.

The company's answer admits giving interstate transportation to shipments tendered to it by the state flax industry, but denies that it uses funds of the state or convict labor and that it has violated the law or damaged the plaintiffs irreparably. It denies collusion between it and any of the other defendants, which include the state board of control and Union Pacific railroad.

The answer alleges that it investigated representations by the plaintiffs and has determined on the basis of an opinion by the U. S. attorney general that it "could not lawfully refuse to accept said shipments." It further alleges that this court has no jurisdiction.

County Plans to Remove Bridge Near Clear Lake

Decision to eliminate a bridge on county road 604, northwest of Clear Lake, which was washed out in the winter's high water, was reached Friday following inspection of the site by Marion County Engineer Hedda Swart, Road Foreman Frank Woelke and Bridge Foreman Ted Kuenzi. Swart said the little-used road would be constructed to follow the land contour, rather than replacing the bridge, since water would cover it only during floods.

PROPERTY OWNERS

As property owners, we are entitled to know before we vote at Tuesday's election that if the $3,500,000 bond issue being asked for by the School Board carries, our property taxes will be increased by approximately 23%.

That is one of the important truths all of us must keep in mind when we go to the polls. Also remember that only property owners are eligible to vote on this important issue.

We are not questioning the School Board's rights to funds that are needed for the operation of the school program; as citizens and parents, we want our schools maintained at the highest possible level of efficiency and under proper housing conditions. But we do not want to shoulder property owners with the unnecessary burden the full $3,500,000 bond issue would create by increased taxation, impairment of our credit standing and the probable loss of additional business enterprises we now hope to attract into this area.

An itemized report of the School Board's requirements for the present time discloses that the $3,500,000 bond issue you are being asked to authorize by your vote, is $2,000,000 more than is presently necessary.

The plain truth is that such over-financing is contrary to the principles of sound business management. The operation of our school program is an important business and we want to see it properly financed. That can be done if you vote against the proposal at Tuesday's election and vote for a more reasonable amount later.
