

Salem Folk Home From The South

The January and February vacationists are beginning to tread home daily from the south, following sojourns in the desert both in California and Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Roberts are being welcomed home from a month's trip south. They spent several weeks at Palm Desert and then motored north to San Francisco and Carmel where they visited with friends.

Colonel and Mrs. Phillip Allison returned to the capital Monday night from a month's sojourn in California. They visited with friends and relatives in San Francisco, Santa Barbara and Ojai.

Mr. and Mrs. Errol W. Kay also returned Monday from a several weeks visit south which took them to Furnace Creek Inn at Death Valley, Arizona and Palm Springs.

Mrs. T. A. Livesley arrived in the capital Tuesday morning from a six weeks sojourn at Furnace Creek Inn. En route north she stopped in San Francisco for a visit with friends.

Shrub Pruning Principals Told

Principals of pruning shrubs and demonstrations of the work will be featured at home extension meeting Thursday, March 4, at Four Corners Community hall starting at 1:30 p.m. Stanley J. Wadsworth, floriculturist at Oregon State college, will be the speaker and he will be assisted by Don Rasmussen, assistant Marion county agent.

Men, women or boys and girls interested in the pruning demonstration will be welcome. Eleanor Trindle, Marion home agent, said in announcing the meeting. General principles of shrub culture and propagation will be handled first by Wadsworth with the demonstration on shrubs in yards within walking distance of Four Corners Community hall.

The speaker for the meeting of the WSCS of the West Salem Methodist church has been changed. Mrs. Robert Hutcheon will talk to the group on "Old Virginia" at the meeting which is to begin with a covered dish luncheon at 11:30 a.m. today.

The Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae will meet Thursday night at the North Capitol street home of Mrs. George Schwarz at 8 o'clock. Mrs. O. T. Mansfield will be the assisting hostess. The alumnae are packing two boxes each month for an 11-year-old French orphan boy.

Good Friends

Sausage Joins Fruit to Make Good Family Main Course; Cook Carefully

We haven't talked about sausage for a long time. Good pork sausage is a great favorite with many families and is an economy way to serve pork.

Let's look at a good menu using sausage for a family meal.

- Head lettuce salad
- Sausage patties
- Apple slices
- Creamed new potatoes
- Broccoli

Experts say to cook either link or bulk sausage by a method called "reverse braising." The meat is browned at the end of the cooking, with a small amount of liquid added before browning, instead of after, as in braising. Place the meat in a heavy skillet with 1 or 2 tablespoons water, cover and cook for 10 minutes slowly. Remove cover and brown.

Fried apples, baked apple slices or apple quarters cooked in a sweet syrup, will be the correct accompaniment for the sausage.

If preferred, a sausage loaf is a nice change and can be used in the menu above:

- SAUSAGE LOAF
- 1 1/2 pounds bulk pork sausage
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 1/2 cups bread crumbs
  - 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
  - 2 tablespoons catchup
  - 2 tablespoons horseradish
  - 1/2 teaspoon prepared
