METER VIOLATORS ADVISED

Tickets for meter violation in Salem must be paid at police headquarters before midnight of the day on which they are issued if violators are to take advantage of the 50-cent rate. Chief of Police Frank A. Minto warned Thursday. Minto said he issued the warning because many persons are still under the impression that the tickets may be turned in anytime within 24 hours after issue and cost only 50 cents. Tickets not paid before midnight of the day issued cost $1, Minto said.

New Grocery

Store Planned

On 12th Street

A new grocery store and meat market will be added to the rapidly growing business district on South 12th street, it was disclosed Friday when C. A. Ladd, 1010 Electric ave., received a permit from the city engineer's office to construct a $10,000 store building at 1705 S. 12th st.

Pade and Keen, contractors in charge of construction, said the new structure would be of pumice blocks with a stucco finish. R. C. Lee and company received authorization to build a house and garage at 1130 Oxford st.

Other permits went to Viesko and Post to wreck the Guardian building at 404 State street to make way for a new one-story to be erected in place of the fire-razed building; to Leo C. Dean to alter a house at 1737 S. Church st., at a cost of $1,000 and to Emma Seely to alter a house at 255 Center st., $150.

Local Firemen

To Compete in

Baker Contest

A six-man ladder team from the Salem fire department will compete in a statewide contest at a meeting of the Oregon Fire Chiefs' association at Baker June 3, 4 and 5, Chief W. P. Roble announced Friday.

Personnel of the drill team has not yet been selected, Roble stated, but will be picked after two months of drills in front of the Salem main station. The squad will use a 35-foot ladder weighing about 300 pounds in the contest. The trip will be financed principally from proceeds of the firemen's dance held three weeks ago.

Roble also announced that he received a letter Friday notifying him of his appointment to the legislative committee of the Chief's association. The nine-man committee is comprised of chiefs from all sections of the state and formulates fire legislation to be submitted to the state legislature.

Elfstrom Files

Vote Petitions

Salem Mayor R. L. Elfstrom's candidacy for reelection was confirmed Thursday when his returned petitions with 220 signers were verified by the county clerk and city recorder.

Elfstrom is in the second year of his first term in office. No one has yet filed to oppose him this year. City filings are open until April 5.

City Recorder Alfred Mundt also verified Thursday the petitions submitted by William H. Crawford, candidate for municipal judge.

After signatures on petitions are checked by the county election department, Mundt's office checks them to ascertain if other requirements are met. In petitions for at-large-elections, at least 200 signatures of registered voters representing at least eight of the city's 36 precincts are required.
