

Miss Gloria Myers Now Mrs. Pettit

A profusion of Easter lilies, white snapdragons, stock and flowering shrubs filled the Gothic edifice of the First Congregational church Saturday night for the wedding of Miss Gloria Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Myers, and William Pettit, son of Mrs. D. F. Furlough and A. E. Pettit. It was at 8 o'clock that the Rev. Seth Huntington performed the rites. Reid Shelton was the soloist and Jean Hobson Rich the organist.

Lighting the candles, which cast a soft glow over the sanctuary, were Mrs. Donald E. Robins (Doris Dixon) of Oregon City and Mrs. William McBee (Avis Steimer) of Astoria, who wore white tiered marquisette frocks.

Of ivory slipper satin was the bridal gown, designed with long sleeves, a full train and a low neckline sloping to the shoulder enhanced with a quilted bow in center front. The bodice was tight and the skirt was fashioned with a draped bustle over the hipline. Tiny satin buttons extended down to the waist in back. A crown of seed pearls and beading held her three-quarter length tulle veil in place. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The pretty, blonde bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Miriam Shellenberger was the honor maid and the bridesmaids were Miss Dolores Clement and Miss Betty Manoles, who wore powder blue brocade satin gowns with matching mitts and blue ostrich plumes in their hair. The honor attendant's dress was made with a high neckline split in front, cap sleeves and a peplum, which ended in a point in back. The bridesmaids' frocks were designed with full skirts, cap sleeves and round necklines. The girls carried bouquets of tulips shading from pastel to deep pink and freesias.

Attend the Groom
Herbert Booth stood with the groom as best man and ushers included Wallace Gemmel, William Johnson, David Berger, Donald Connett and Ian Thompson.

Mrs. Myers chose a pearl grey dinner gown embellished with opalescent sequin design on the bodice, pink feather hat and gloves for her daughter's nuptials. Her corsage was of pink baby orchids. Mrs. Furlough wore a dusty rose gown with cap sleeves, draped skirt and grey accessories for the wedding. Pinned to her gown were white baby orchids.

At the wedding reception in the fireplace room Mrs. Frank Myers presided at the coffee urn and Mrs. Frank Brown and Mrs. George Blower, all aunts of the bride, cut the cake. Serving were the Misses Joan Blaxall, Suzanne Small, Jane McKenzie and Joan Randall. Miss Barbara Causey passed the guest book and at the gift table were Mrs. Herbert Booth and Miss Marilyn Myers. The newlyweds have gone to Washington and along the Oregon coast on their honeymoon. For going away the bride wore a beige gabardine tulle made with straight skirt and long packet with double pockets. With her outfit she wore a shaded orange and beige scarf, nutmeg brown straw hat with a large shaded orange and nutmeg rose at the side. Mr. Pettit and his bride will live in Corvallis, where he is attending Oregon State college.
